Bristol Aug Sept 3 1866

My dear Mother - you will be glad to know that I have safely arrived at my destination and have been most warmly received by my friends here. Indeed I should trust that you have been most prosperous and pleasant and I cannot but feel that there is a wise hand directing and overruling all things for good. Several times my plans have been changed by circumstances and good has resulted. I must felt so strong the presence of God now felt so little before for this reason. I have almost retired in double bottom converse a new page of my existence with more exalted aims and renewed zeal.

From your last year I left about 1 year ago from Fitchburg. I had heard much of the service. On Sunday I attended the service twice and both times wished you could have been with me. Every thing was sung or chanted except I believe the lessons. I was very glad for better words hearing them any day for a ticket concert you can had in Detroit. I also attended the service in Detroit on Wednesday. On Thursday I spent the day in walking over the city under the guidance of a friend who picked up on the steamer whose home is in Dublin. I press on must have walked over 20 miles and I was completely worn up when night came. I paid my hotel bill and took a steamer to cross the channel. We sailed about 10 PM had a stormy passage and arrived at Holyhead in Wales the following (Tuesday) morning. I spent two hours in wandering about this curious old Welsh town and then

The fascinating, easily-read two-page letter is from Frances Repetto, at the time, the de facto "head woman" of the island; datelined Mar 14, 1929, the letter thanks a woman for a parcel of gifts/supplies and relates some island goings-on, including the difficulty in getting supplies, due to how seldom ships called; the somewhat less-than-honorable "Mr. Pooley," an Anglican Minister on the island; her large family, the "worse ever" potato crop; and the then-current population of the island: 156, "85 males and 71 females about 50 are children under 12", Very Fine. This cover would have been carried by the S.S. "Halesius". SG £275+ ($370).

Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.—Rom. iv. 8.

Tristan da Cunha
March 14th 1929

Dear Madam

Many thanks for your kind letter and parcel which I received on the 2nd of Febrary it was so very kind of you and I appreciate your kind gifts it so very hard to get anything at Tristan because ship call so very seldom and this year we have a very poor crop of potatoes the worse ever been on account of the high winds I was sorry to hear that Mr Pooley wrote away and said there was plenty store on the island which was not true perhaps he had them but the islanders did not and he also said that he was ill which was also not true I never knew him to be ill once he did look so well but of course he may have known better himself and it came as a surprise to us all I suppose he is alright now there are a hundred and 56 inhabitants on the island 85 males and 71 females about 50 are children under twelve years of age so Tristan are getting quite a population and I feel sure that some will have to leave soon and go to the Cape I was so please with the photo it make me realize more how you look you have the blessing of your husband. but I have lost my dear husband about 18 years and my three daughters are married also my Eldest son and have houses of there own but I have three unmarried sons in the house and they are dear good boys and seems to take the place of there dear father I was on board of the Empress of France last year when she call at trier loun and the Ladie that showed me round the ship gave me her address to write to her and I send her a letter on october the 28 the same year and had a answer on the Purchase of atholl also a box of all little food stuff it was very kind of her for it came in the time most needed I wish you could see the happy when a ship call and especially when giving out the place so please dear Madam excuse my short letter there are so many friend who I have to write to thank them also so With Many thanks for your Great kindness I must wish you the best of health and happiness this coming year yours sincerely Francis Repetto
