10¢ Aerogramme FDC Sept. 14, 1954 (Scott UC2), folded into letter size and unaddressed, canceled by "United Nations New York Sept. 14, 1954" UN cancel, Extremely Fine, this is the scarcest of all United Nations First Day Covers with no contemporary cachets made.

Basically unannounced and without a first day of issue ceremony, only a few dozen first day covers were prepared for this issue for the UN archives, and each of these had a cancel in the same location as this example and had a small piece of cellophane tape to hold the top backflap in place. Upon discovery by the philatelic community, the clerk prepared additional FDCs and these can be identified by the cancel applied closer to the top of the aerogramme and the lack of cellophane tape on the reverse.

Suggested Bid $500

September 14, 1954 Aerogram

By far, the scarcest of all UN offerings. When the UN issued its first Aerogram in 1952, it contained only the english wording AIR LETTER. Later with UC2, this was corrected to be in compliance with UPU and the french insignia AÉROGRAMME was added. Basically unannounced, only a few dozen of the changed first day covers were created by the UNPA for their archives. When it became known later, a UN clerk prepared additional quantities after the First Day for his private speculation. These can easily be identified because the privately prepared cancels covered the entire stamp, whereas the UNPA officially prepared FDC are like the one shown with only a third of the cancel covering the stamp. Further, the official UN FDC were sealed with a tiny bit of cellophane tape on the back flap. This item is absent from most all UN collections since it is estimated that less than a dozen or two were prepared and only a few found their way out of the archives. Guaranteed Genuine in all respects. Only one available
