Bristol Aug Sept 3 1866

My dear Hattie — you will be glad to know that I have safely arrived at my destination and have been most warmly received by my friends here. Indeed my whole trip thus far has been most prosperous and pleasant and I cannot but feel that there is a wise hand directing and overruling all things for good. Several times my plans have been changed by circumstances and providence. I must feel so strongly the providence of God now felt so that I have for his wonderful. I have also learned me to trust better in the future and enter upon a new page of our existence with more exalted aims and renewed zeal.

Since you last from Dublin I remained there Friday night till Monday morning. On Sunday I attended service three times and how I wished you could have been with me. Everything was sung or chanted except the lessons. It was really grand for which would have cost me any dollars a ticket. Concerts you ever had in Dublin. I also attended service in Christ Church on Wednesday. On Monday I spent the day in walking over the city under the guidance of a friend I had picked up on the steamer whose home is in Dublin. I presume we must have walked over 25 miles and I was completely used up when night came. I found my hotel bill and took a steamer to cross the Channel. We sailed about 10 PM had a stormy passage and arrived at Holyhead in Wales the following (Tuesday) morning. I spent two hours in wandering about this curious old Welsh town and then
