Autographs and Memorabilia

Americana

- 1 1701 Jacob Kip Document. Major land transaction between two of the leading citizens of early Colonial New York State, a most precious document bearing upon the history of the Dutchess County Area. "Jacobus Kip the Younger, the Patentee", purchases a parcel of land from William Traphagen, founder of the village of Rhinebeck. Lengthy document, entirely handwritten, very legible as the ink is dark and fresh. One side of an approximately 16"x 12" sheet with docketing on reverse. "...William Traphagen heath hereunto sett his hand and affixed his seale in Kingston this Fourth of June, 1706". Kingstown became Kingston, headquarters for George Washington during the Revolutionary War. And, as if this document were not already sufficiently history-laden, another famous signature also appears on it: Pieter Tappen (Old Tappen, Tappen Zee Bridge, etc.), apparently signing as a witness. Final line, in very large script, read, "In presence of mee, Nottingham Justice of Peace". The Kip Family had perhaps the most extensive and far-flung real estate holdings in New York during the colonial period. Much of it was in New Amsterdam (later Manhattan) including the land that became City Hall Park. Kip's Bay, on the East River, was a huge tract owned by the family. The first Kip (a Dutch family from Brittany) to reach America was Henry in 1635. It was Henry's sons who ventured into New York real estate, building a very immense fortune, possibly the largest in the colonies. W.E. Kip, a much later descendant, placed a note with this document on July 4, 1917, stating (in part) that "the map of this land has been framed and is at Ankony". The note is present and will be furnished to the purchaser. Docket on reverse of document read "Ulster. Recorded in the booke of records for Said County and Dutchesse Conty No. A Folio 377. by Mee, D. Meyer, Clarke (clerk)". Absolutely fabulous, and in very exceptional condition for 304 years!

Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

- 2 1770 Yale Broadside. Honoring the 19 graduates of Yale College, 16"x 20", 1770, in Latin, printed by Thomas & Samuel Green. A top are the names of Jonathan Trumbull (1710-85), Colonial Governor of Conn, Matthew Griswold, Lt Governor of Conn, and Naphtali Daggett, President of Yale. Beneath the names of the graduates is a lengthy description of the courses they have completed. Includes: grammar; mathematics; metaphysics; ethics; theology, etc. Small hole near bottom margin. Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

- 3 Revolutionary War Field Soldier's Water Canteen. Entirely hand crafted, with attached drinking cup. The rarity of Revolutionary War Soldier's equipment is legendary; little was made, much less survived, and the relatively few that escaped loss have mostly found their way to institutional collections. This is a handmade canteen or water flask, fashioned with extraordinary skill. In circular form it varies from about 6" to 6¼" in diameter with thickness of approximately 1 1/16". Over a wood core is sewn leather hide, utilizing leather thong thread. Terminates into drinking spout at top, extending about 1" from the body. Of even greater interest, and very possibly rendering this a unique creation, is an attached drinking cup. Of charmingly crude design, 5" in length of oval form, it its hand carved from richly burlwood with a most captivating patina. Essentially complete and in remarkably well preserved condition, there are a few minor replacements on the attachments that hold the cup to the body. Deserving of a prominent place in the finest collection. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

- 4 1792 Document-Purchase of Land within the City of Washington during George Washington's Presidency. Lottery Bond, single sheet, partly printed (on one side of sheet only, therefore rendering it ideal for display). Dated 1792. Signed by Samuel Blodget, Jr., a wealthy merchant of that time, who organized the lottery. This was ticket number 330 for his Washington, D.C. lottery: "In consideration of fifty Specie Dollars in hand, and for a junior, of Boston, State of Massachusetts, do hereby bind myself, my heirs and assigns, to convey, by an ample Deed to John Dewhurst his heirs or assigns, One Lot of Land, within the city of Washington. The situation of said Lot shall be determined by lot, in equal chance with more than five hundred Lots to be laid out by Government according to the Plan of the said City, and within the Boundaries of that tract, well known by the name of the Jamaica Farm, late the property of Philip R. Fendall, containing the above four hundred acres, within the City aforesaid, and is now the undivided property of the United States, for one moiety, and of said Samuel Blodget, for the other.-. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 5 1794 Third Congress of the United States: Jenkins, Thomas. "At the first session, begun and held at the city of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, on Monday, the second of December, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-three. An Act for the relief of Thomas Jenkins and Sons." (Philadelphia: 1794) Folio broadside. The act directs the collector of the customs of the Port of New York to remit the duties on the ship American Hero, owned by Jenkins, "which may be incurred in consequence of the incompetent or invalid register of the said ship." Jenkins was a Nantucket Quaker who emigrated to Hudson, New York, where he was central to the growth of its whaling industry. The American Hero was a 420-ton whaler. The Act required Jenkins to obtain a new register from the ship, "in the manner prescribed by law". Approved by President Washington on February 19, 1794, it is signed in type by him, Speaker Muhlenberg, and Vice President Adams. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 6 1794 Third Congress of the United States: Santo Domingo. "At the first session... an act providing for the relief of such of the inhabitants of Saint Domingo, Resident within the United States, as may be found in want of support." (Philadelphia: 1794) Folio broadside (1) page. The Act authorized an appropriation of $15,000 "for the support of such of the inhabitants of Saint Domingo, resident within the United States, as shall be found in want of such support." It was approved by President Washington on February 12, 1794, and signed in type by him, Vice President Adams, and Speaker Muhlenberg. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

American Police Instructor for Panama Police.

Letter of Mr. Miller, Aug. 12, 1913, advising that Panama had asked for appointment of instructor several times, but none had been found.
- Salary of 200 Balboas and 50
balboas for board and lodging - monthly; also a horse and its care and maintenance at Government expense.
Capt. Charles Frobridge U.S.A.
recommended by Capt. Barber - Fro-bridge recently in Police of Manila
P.I.

- 7 1911-13 Panama Canal Remarkable Diary. Diary of events kept by (evidently) an American police constable during the building of the Panama Canal. The book is completely full of entries, mainly in legible pencil, of the 1911-13 period. Some describe in Vivid Detail eye-witness events which could not have been captured by any other source and would therefore be lost to history. One compelling entry tells of a man arrested for stealing a bottle of ginger ale; given a 60 day sentence; being placed in stocks at regular intervals and suffering infection in his legs where the stocks caused abrasions. he asked for medical assistance but was merely "poked in the ribs". He died a short time later. Fascinating and obviously unique. Oblong book bound in borads with marbled covering. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

Americana: Slavery/Black History

List of slaves held by William Shotton in the first year of April 1815 in the first district of the State of Virginia, viz, in the County of Scott-- two slaves of the following description
Male 1 between 12 and 50 years
Female 1 between 12 and 50 years
Valued at seven hundred dollars - $700
Wm Shotton

- 8 1815 Declaration of Slave Values. Virginia. Declaration of slave values filed with "County of Scott, 1st Collection", as portion of overall estate valuation. "Two slaves of the following description: Male 1 between 12 and 50 years; female 1 between 12 and 50 years". Combined value for the two was $700. Very legibly written on high quality cream colored paper. Estimate $500 - 750

List of slaves held by Randolph Fugate on the first day of April 1815 in the first district of the State of Virginia, viz, in Wythe County--
two slaves of the following description
Male 1 between 12 and 50 years
Female 1 between 12 and 50 years
Valued at $500
Randolph Fugate

- 9 1815 Declaration of the Value of Slaves on an Estate. Virginia. As this document makes no mention of additional property, it was almost certainly prepared as an appendage to a declaration of the estate, livestock, household items etc. Reads "List of slaves held by Randolph Fugate on the first day of April 1815, in the first district of the State of Virginia, viz, in Wythe County-- two slaves of the following description-- males 1 between 12 and 50 years / females 1 between 12 and 50". Signed by the owner. Excellent condition. Would frame handsomely, Very Fine. Estimate $500 - 750

10 1815 Detailed Listing of Slaves. Virginia. Declaration of the value of property, including detailed listing of slaves. "List of lands with their improvements and slaves owned by Joel Hubble on the 1st day of Apr. 1815." Washington County, Virginia. After evaluating farm, barn etc. at $1,225.00 a tabulation of the slaves follows: "Nine slaves of the following description:
Males 3 between 12 and 50 years of age 700.00
4 under 12 years 750.00
Females 1 between 12 and 50 years 300.00
1 under 12 years 150.00"
Value of the slaves actually exceeded all the other property. Cream colored paper with clear writing, excellent condition., Very Fine. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

12 1815 Property evaluation including Slaves. Virginia, dated April 1, 1815. Property in question lies "within the first assessment District of the State of Virginia in the county of Wythe". In fixing the location, mention is made of "the Second Battalion of the 35th Regiment" which was undoubtedly a landmark in that area. Property is evaluated at $1,200.00 and the slaves at $530.00, as follows:
"One male slave under 12 years valued at one hundred eighty dollars
Two females under 12 valued at three hundred and fifty dollars."
Cream colored paper, very legible, excellent condition., Very Fine. Estimate $400 - 600

11 1815 Early Property Evaluation including Slaves. Virginia. Early & extremely desirable property evaluation including separate valuations for slaves. "List of land with the improvements and slaves owned by... on the 1st May... 1815 within the first district of the State of Virginia," ect. Property is evaluated at $200.00 and the slaves at $1,350.00, as follows:
"5 slaves:
2 males under 12 years of age 600.00
females
2 between 12 and 50 years of age 600.00
1 under 12 years 150.00
Inscribed in brown ink on cream colored paper. Very nice condition, Very Fine. Estimate $500 - 750

13 1815 Property Evaluation with Separate Valuations for Slaves. "...the first day of April 1815 lying in the county of Wythe, one farm...containing one hundred and seventy six acres, having thereon ONE DWELLING HOUSE OF LOGS two stories high, 30 feet by 24 and one old barn and one stable of logs valued at fifteen hundred and twenty six dollars." The slaves are listed separately:
"Six slaves of the following description:
3 males under 12 years of age
1 female between 12 and 50 years
2 under 12 years"
Cream colored paper, very legible script, nicely preserved., Very Fine. Estimate $750 - 1,000

14 1815 Statement of Plantation Value. Early statement of plantation value with separate evaluation of slaves. "List of land with its improvements, dwelling houses and slaves owned by Jonathan Aker on the first day of April 1815" etc., 314 acres of land are valued at three thousand dollars. At conclusion a note, in the same hand: "one Female Slave under 12 years of age valued at two hundred dollars." It is unusual in documents of this character for children of this age to be referred to as slaves-- it was more standard to say "one negro female under 12 years of age," etc. and this lends additional interest. Excellent condition, Very Fine.
Estimate $500 - 750

16 1836 Rare slavery-related court document. "In Chancery at Camden, Wilcox County, Alabama". A double folio sheet, folded to create four legal size pages; entirely hand written (it is most interesting, and perhaps reflective of the time and place, that no printed form was available). Interrogatories in a lawsuit. Dispute over a mortgage. Among the questions is, "Do your know the negro girl Jane mentioned in and alluded to...state if she was conveyed in said mortgage", etc. etc. Really Quaint -- uses "yea" for "yes" and old style "s" that resembles a letter "f". Undoubtedly prepared by someone educated in the 18th century. Prized treasure whose equal would be most difficult to find.
Estimate $600 - 800

15 1835 Fabulous and early sheriff's warrant to arrest three men for unlawfully whipping a slave. Alabama. Partially printed document, "The State of Alabama to the Sheriff of Lawrence County - Greeting." Order to arrest William Pellman, John Pellman and Arthur B. Cowan, "defendants...wherever they may be found in your county", etc. Dated September 29, 1835. Charge was that they "unlawfully whipped William Lutch, a negro man". Notes and signatures in a number of different hands. The type of item on which historians feast, in an effort to prove -- or disprove -- that the law could work on the side of slaves in the Old South. Nice condition and quite attractive.
Estimate $750 - 1,000

17 1839 Slave inventory. Alabama. Wilcox County. This was submitted as a sworn document before Wilcox County Court, October 19, 1839. Sheet of cream colored double folio paper, folded to create four legal size pages. Terrific, highly desirable piece as this is not merely an estate or plantation inventory in which slaves play only a minor role but an inventory of slaves exclusively, with the exception of a few mules (as these are by two, along with groups of slaves, it would be reasonable to assume that they were specifically assigned to the slaves). Total of 24 slaves, including: Woman Charlotte, $900; Boy Paul, $800; Man Isaac, $1,300; Girl Margaret, $650; Woman Emaline, $900; Boy Jordan, $100; and so on. Extremely clear, dark black ink in a very legible hand, excellently preserved. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

19 1852 Probate Document on Slaves. Alabama 1852. Wilcox County Probate Court. Document, entirely hand written, on folio sheet folded once to create four legal size pages. Entered as Exhibit A in case of dividing property. Included among the property are a large number of slaves with which this document deals exclusively. Each slave is individually named and evaluated, including: "Will, $750.00; Jacob, $750.00; Wesley, $750.00; Toney, $750.00; Charles, $800.00; June, $300.00; Edey, $100.00;" and so on. Dated at Camden (Alabama) January 1, 1852. Excellent condition, Very Fine. Estimate $750 - 1,000

18 1842 Negro Hire. Alabama 1842. Very large (double folio size) sheet with light horizontal ruling in blue. Guardian's account, sworn and notarized, of monies expended and reimbursed in the care of six minor children, all of the same family. The charge for "negro hire for 1842" is split six ways and amounts to $69.66 per child. This is listed along with the separate expenses for each child. Very dark clear writing. Ideal item for display, Very Fine. No photo. Estimate $600 - 800

20 1853 Physician's bill for female slave in childbirth. Alabama 1853. Housecall was made on April 22, 1852, and is billed as follows:
 "Visit to negro woman 8.00
 Obstetric attention & turning child, difficult labor 23.00"
 Note at bottom reads "January 21, 1853. Received payment in full." Physicians' bills for calls on slaves giving birth are among the most prized of all slavery related documents, but one such as this, with additional mention of "turning child, difficult labor" is a museum piece of the first rank. On lightly ruled bluish tinted paper, clear writing, excellent condition, Very Fine. Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

21 1854 Massive account ledger for estate. Alabama, March 13, 1854. Blue tinted ledger paper folded and attached together with pins to create a coverless book (some pages at rear are blank). Very large estate, even by the standards of that time. Note at conclusion reads: "Account balanced to this date for purpose of accertaining (sic) the amount due to Saml. Gibson & Ann M. his wife for this use, she having received her share of the negroes". This was unquestionably a cotton plantation as many of othe entries refer to cotton and quite likely employed a vast number of slaves. Terrific piece of history, worthy of careful study. Estimate $600 - 800

22 1861 Invoice for money due on illness of a female slave. Alabama. Exceedingly rare and unusual receipted invoice for money due on the illness (and hence loss of services) of a female slave. In the amount of $10, "To loss of time, negro woman confined". Notation dated January 1, 1862, indicates that payment was received. This would have been a situation in which the slave was hired for a specific length of time for a specific sum of money; the hirer was charging for the time she was unable to perform her duties, on a pro-rata basis. Documents of this sort are among the scarcest to be encountered in slave archives. On ruled accounting paper, very legible, excellent condition. Estimate $500 - 750

23 1864 Remarkable late Civil War document giving appraised value of mulatto boy and girl, of the utmost rarity. Alabama. Folio size blue ruled sheet, folded once to create four pages. Sworn statement bearing a number of official signatures, very sharp bold writing, a museum piece of the first magnitude. "An inventory and appraisement of the personal property belonging to the estate of Perry R. Steen, Jr., de., appraised by the undersigned this 23rd day of January, 1864". This was apparently property that had devolved from an "Old South" plantation of considerable size. Among the entries, with as assigned valuation of $650, is "10,000 lbs. seed cotton". This pales, however, before the $3,000 appraised valuation of "1 molatto boy Sheppard". The war had been on for nearly three years at this point and values of slaves were enormously inflated; but, even earlier, those which could safely be referred to as mulattos normally brought higher sums in the belief that they were of greater intelligence. Excellent condition, deserving of a prominent place in a serious collection. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 24 1876 Major Reconstruction effort by a Mississippi Congressman. "Speech of Hon. Chas. E. Hooker. On relations between The White and Colored People of the South, delivered in the United States House of Representatives, June 15, 1876." First printing of the complete speech, with lengthy appendix dealing with laws pertaining to White/Black relations in various states, not only in the South. Unbound as issued. Light dampstaining. Rare and historic. Estimate $500 - 750

- 25 Slave Shackle - Middle Passage. Made of iron, 13.25" x 4", used to prohibit the free movement of one slave, or to shackle two slaves together, the left ankle of one and the right ankle of the other. Used primarily on slave ships to confine Africans to the lower deck. Acquired from Danny Drain, Curator and President of the Slave Relics Museum, Walterboro, South Carolina. Excerpted from Mr. Drain's letter to us, "...We have purchased a large collection of slave shackles from a South Carolina estate back in the fall of 1996, which also consists of slave collars and other restraints...Please Note: These are not law enforcement cuffs from the 1800's. Some people and even some experts confuse the law enforcement cuffs as being actual slave shackles...Slave shackles were...forged by Europeans or en-slaved Africans on the plantations...The middle passage shackles uses a chain through the rings and will lock at a stationary location on a slave ship...I have handled thousands of slave shackles over the years, and became one of the most reliable sources to authenticate slave shackles or any other restraint that were used on en-slaved Africans." Normal light rusting due to age. Overall, fine condition. Letter of Authenticity from Danny Drain accompanies this shackle., Fine. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 26 Slave Shackle Used on Potential Runaways. Rare wrought iron shackle with four center links and a barrel type locking mechanism. This type of restraint was used on slaves that plantation owners felt were potential runaways. The four links are nine inches long. The complete shackle with links and lock measures 24 inches.

Deaccessioned from a museum. From the letter of authenticity: "Large Hand Forged South Carolina Slave Shackle: Circa 1840's ... This is to certify that the Slave Shackle accompanying this certificate is authentic as described, and was carefully researched through all available sources of information. This is an historical piece of history from the African Slave Trade during the 1800's..." Normal light rusting due to age. Fine condition., Fine. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 27 Slave Shackle Used On Slave Ships. Rare iron shackle with four parts. This type was primarily used on slave ships to confine the Africans on the lower deck. It was used to prohibit the free movement of one slave, or to shackle two slaves together, the left ankle of one and the right ankle of the other. Judging by the size of the restraint, it was probably used on woman or child. Opening at widest is approximately 2.5" x 2.5". Length is 11.25". Shackle has excellent patina.

Deaccessioned from a museum. From the letter of authenticity: "Middle Passage Slave Shackle: Circa 1700's ... This is to certify that the Slave Shackle accompanying this certificate is authentic as described, and was carefully researched through all available sources of information. This is an historical piece of history from the African Slave Trade during the 1700's..." Normal light rusting due to age. Fine condition., Fine. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

Western Americana

- 28 Collection of extremely early and super historical Texas legal documents. Thirty Texas Legal Documents, all dating prior to the civil war, many prior to the Mexican War, and some even before the Alamo! A feast for the Texas historian! Many different countries, types of cases, and lengths of documents are included (ranging from a single up to many dozens of pages). Some are even quite decorative, with embossed paper or wax seals and held together with colorful silk ribbons etc. Texas documents of such early date seldom appear on the market and never (so far as we can ascertain) in this quantity. Condition is mostly excellent, minor staining on a few. Totally unchecked for possible signatures of value. With some study and research it is beyond question that a dealer could profit handsomely from this lot, as there are certain to be many individual pieces in the $500++ range. Lot of 30. No photo.

Estimate $6,000 - 8,000

- 29 Extra Choice Museum Piece Antique Steer Horn. Embellished with scrimshaw decoration of the absolutely highest quality. VERY STUNNING example of Western Americana art whose equal could probably not be, found in even the finest collections. STEER HORN, about 23" measured along the curve and approx. 3 1/4" thick, EMBELLISHED OVER NEARLY 2/3rds OF THE LENGTH (excepting only the narrow portion toward the tip) WITH LARGE, EXTREMELY GRAPHIC SCRIMSHAW BY A VERY GIFTED ARTIST. A "frame" or border comprised of leafwork and floral motifs encircles A TRIO OF SUBJECTS: (1, from topmost downward) Seated woman in shawl and fur muffler, hands crossed wearing pensive expression (2) Woman of high fashion adorned in ermine and fur coat over a checkered dress, large with ostrich feather etc., in the mode of High Fashion in 17th century England (3) Woman on horseback in billowing cape, wearing Quaker hat and collar, blanket of horse is festooned with multiple armorial symbols; she rides "side-saddle" in the traditional style. The horn is beautifully polished and all areas of the scrimmed designs are extremely bold and fresh. VF+ condition.

Estimate $6,000 - 8,000

Artists

- 30 Szyk, Arthur. The immortal Polish illustrator portrays his least favorite subject - but one which contributed to his international fame. This is an original 1941 watercolor of Adolf Hitler, which, following its publication in the worldwide press, became one of Szyk's signature works. Hitler wears a fur-trimmed overcoat, scarf, Nazi armband, parade sword tall boots and packs a leather holstered pistol as he sinks knee deep in a snowbank. In the background can be seen a little glimpse of the Leningrad skyline. Hitler's face is contorted (more than usual) into an expression of fear, disgust and shock. The reference is obvious: the German siege is not going so well and Hitler is beginning to realize that he's made the same blunder as Napoleon, 1 1/2 centuries earlier, thinking his troops could tough out a Russian winter. Watercolor is entitled "RATHER CHILLY ISN'T IT, ADOLPH!? AND HOT TOO ...". Signed and dated "New York 1941." Image area about 10 1/2" x 13 1/2", double matted and framed to overall size of 17" x 20". Excellent condition.

Estimate $20,000 - 30,000

Astronauts

- 31 Shepard, Alan. First Day Cover signed by astronaut Alan Shepard along with other illuminaries: Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter, Jonas Salk, Chuck Yeager, Byron White & Mohammad Ali. Cover is fresh & attractive., Very Fine.

Authors

- 32 Clemens, Samuel (Mark Twain). Stock Certificate witnessed by Clemens. Only one of two classes of Beech Creek Railroad were witnessed by Clemens for his brother-in-law, thus there are only two examples in existence. Stocks signed by Samuel Clemens have been of very high rarity in the past with only three or four known to us having changed hands over the past twenty years. A fine scripophily rarity related to one of America's most beloved literary figures.

Stock certificate for one hundred shares of common stock. Green. Vignette of a locomotive at top center flanked by winged lions. Issued to and signed on verso by T.W. Crane. Also signed, "S.L. Clemens," as witness by Samuel Clemens. Punch and stamp cancelled. Fine.

Accompanying this rare autographed certificate is an item of extraordinary historical interest, the actual ledger book kept by the Beech Creek Railroad company during the 1880's and 1890's recording the sale and transfer of its stock. It contains not only entries for the Mark Twain stock but numerous others for the Wall Street titans of that time period: Cornelius & William Vanderbilt, H.W. Sage, Olmstead, Peale Depew, ect. The book measures approximately. 8 1/4" x 10 1/2" with pebble grain cloth covers and leather spine (spine worn, front cover detached but present; could be repaired).

Comes with color portrait of Mark Twain and voluminous biographical information., Very Fine.

Estimate $6,000 - 8,000

- 33 Clemens, Samuel (Mark Twain), Hardly schooled at all, unsuccessful as a Confederate soldier (he kept complaining that the sleeping accommodations, and practically everything else, failed to suit him), Samuel L. Clemens still managed to cut quite a path in the world. Most of his numerous books were best sellers and remain in print today. In fact he sold more books than any other American author up to his time and came in a near second to Charles Dickens (an Englishman) worldwide. As a youth he worked as a roustabout on paddle wheelers that plied the Mississippi. One of his tasks was to take depth soundings, which was called "marking the twine", or rope, and hence he became known as Mark Twain (which he liked the sound of much better than Samuel Clemens). He gave us Huckleberry Finn, Tom Sawyer, a Tramp Abroad, The Man that Corrupted Hadleyburg, The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County, The Prince and Pauper. and more than just about anybody could read in one lifetime.
Signature in a very unique framed presentation. Needless to belabor, his signature has been gold to autograph collectors for a century and a half. It has likewise been gold to institutional libraries, museums, etc., which have taken most of the available supply off the market. This superb example (strong signature on card) is matted and framed to create a super-stunning work of art. The mat contains three windows, one of which displays the signature. The other two are extraordinary indeed: early engraved portrait on a raised platform base plus large, full color sketch by the noted caricaturist Keppler of Twain on stage giving one of his famous lectures, also mounted on raised backing to giving three-dimensional effect. The ultimate Twain!
Double matting with gilt wood frame, 19 1/4" x 15 1/4".

Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

34 Hemingway, Ernest. ALS signed "Papa," one lightly lined Page, 4 x 8.75, no date (circa 1950s). Hemingway writes to "Dear Kittner" (pet name for his fourth and last wife, Mary Welsh); in full: "Hope you slept well. Lee Berry did not fix the steaks as he went trawling so am bringing two more steaks - bread and wine. (If cooks doesn't) please leave a list of anything at shopping center you want brought. Have a good rest time and read and have fun. There is a letter from Beallie and a new book and the papers. I love you very much. Excuse scrawl!" After signing, Hemingway adds a brief unsigned postscript: "Will be back before seven". Interestingly enough, the sheet Hemingway used is a preprinted form intended for a grade-schooling spelling test, which includes the direction "write misspelled words on other side". Matted and framed together with an unsigned photo and engraved biographical plaque to an overall size of 26.75 x 21.75. In fine condition.

Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

35 Steinbeck, John. A.L.S. In the midst of composing "Cannery Row," with report of his progress on it. Terrific 1½" page entirely handwritten letter (Signed "John") with autobiographical content. Written on two sheets of yellow ruled notepaper in blue ball pen (it is hardly newsworthy for the great literary titans to use any available writing paper; the manuscript for Jack Kerouac's "On the Road" was done on a roll of paper towels), it is addressed to a "Dear Bill." The addressee must have been an artist or photographer who did a picture of his children, as Steinbeck writes, "The portrait keeps growing on me. What a fine piece of work it is, 'really sound and true. It's a portrait for all their lives, not just a time piece". Later on in the letter, after trying to entice Bill over to his home to help set up a workshop in the basement, he writes, "I've got my first act of Cannery Row and now go into the second act". Dated "St. Patrick's Day" but no year. Should be published! Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

Circus

36 Barnum, P.T., An extraordinary and innovative showman, Barnum owned a circus, employing various forms of presentation and publicity to popularize his shows. He introduced freak shows and acts like Tom Thumb and Jenny Lind. In 1881, he merged his circus with Bailey's, his chief competitor and their circus became an American institution.

Letter to Bailey. Autograph letter signed "P.T. Barnum", one full page, 6" x 9½", August 27, 1889, to James A. Bailey, with his pencil docket and notes on the verso. Accompanied by an original double sided yellow streamer, ca. 1881, announcement for "P.T. Barnum's Greatest Show on Earth", and the Great London Circus, Sanger's Royal British Menagerie with several vignette illustrations. The letter in very fine condition. The streamer fragile with minor tears but otherwise intact., Very Fine. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

- 37 Barnum's Siamese twins. Signed cabinet card photo. One of the great fabled rarities among circus (in fact among all show business) autographs. Superb, stunning example of an absolutely genuine "Chang and Eng" signed photograph. Not a humbug like so many of the Barnum attractions, Chang and Eng really were joined at the lower chest. They were actually Chinese but Barnum, ever the showman, thought "Siamese" rendered them more exotic. An enormous attraction at the Barnum Museum, they exhibited before many millions of spectators over a long period of years, became immensely wealthy and died within about half an hour of each other. They share the same circulatory system and one could not survive without the other. This cabinet card, probably from the 1860's, pictures them in a seated pose looking toward the photographer. It is a very famous shot used in biographies of Barnum, histories of circus and sideshows, as well as in encyclopedias etc. In sepia tone (standard for that time period), 4" x 2½". Signed by both in lower margin ("Eng & Chang"). The belief that these signed photos could be obtained at the Barnum Shows is totally erroneous. Chang and Eng souvenirs were sold, but certainly not signed photos. Even the unsigned examples of this photo would have been prized as collectors' items by the first owners, but obtaining signatures was a virtual impossibility. Over the years signed photos of this remarkable duo became legendary in their rarity and acknowledge as the key piece for a collection of celebrated circus /sideshow personalities. Excellent condition.

Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

- 38 Barnum Museum, 1864 Carte de Viste of Miss Lizzie Reed. Stamp folded over bottom of Carte de Viste, bottom portion is missing, attached to photo from Barnum's Museum of Miss Lizzie Reed with clear "BARNUM Nov 20, 1865" hand stamp, very attractive historical item, Fine.

Entertainers

- 39 Cohan, George M., Cohan (1878-1942) parlayed an inconspicuous 1880's beginning in vaudeville into world fame and substantial fortune. He sang, danced, acted, wrote songs, produced and starred in his own Broadway shows, even ran his own theater (in partnership with boxing promoter Sam Harris). "Yankee Doodle Dandie" and "Give my Regards to Broadway", a pair of the thick lexicon of his songs, are classics of theatrical Americana.

Signed State of New York Canal Improvement Bond, $10,000 face value, issued to George M. Cohan, signed on the back. Bond is dated August 7, 1919. Cohan's signature exists mostly on pages from old-time autograph books carried by theater enthusiasts and (occasionally) on press notices, photos, programmes and the like. Its rarity on a bond could not fall very short of "Unique". Comes with portrait and extensive biographical information.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

40 DeMille, Cecil B., (1881-1959), producer and director, Oscar winner ("The Greatest Show on Earth"), DeMille had great success in both the silent and "talkie" eras, to the point where his name became a byword for everything grand and glorious about the motion picture industry.
 Signed stock certificate. Here he buys (for his production company) stock in "Ferrocarriles Consolidados de Cuba", Consolidated Railroads of Cuba. The large, ornate certificate dates from 1928 and bears his strong signature on the back. Comes with small portrait and summary of his achievements. Estimate $750 - 1,000

41 Dylan, Bob. Signed sleeve from his first album "THE FREEWHEELIN' BOB DYLAN." Columbia "Stereo 360 Sound." Signed VERY BOLDLY IN BLUE FELT MARKER ON FRONT COVER. Notes on his life and music on back. One of the most famous rock albums and the one which made Dylan a great hero for the rapidly approaching Flower Children Generation. Cover shot shows him sloshing along arm-in-arm with a young lady on a snowy Manhattan street. The photographer wanted Dylan to walk with a girl but Dylan told him he had no girl to walk with. The record company loaned him a girl and she and Dylan became an item. IT IS WELL KNOWN that, of all major rock stars, Dylan's autograph on album sleeves is among the scarcest. Autographed sleeves of this (his first album) are scarcest of all. Sleeve only (no record). Estimate $600 - 800

42 Handy, W.C., (1873-1958) rose from modest beginnings in Reconstruction Alabama to become one of the major figures in blues and jazz music. His classic composition, "St. Louis Blues" (1914), brought him into the spotlight and helped open the way for Louis Armstrong, Bessie Smith, Duke Ellington and scores of others.
 Signed letter. EXCEPTIONAL T.L.S. on letterhead of his company, "HANDY BROTHERS MUSIC CO., Inc. / PUBLISHERS / GENUINE AMERICAN MUSIC / 1650 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, N.Y." Written to a correspondent in California, it reads in part, "You will find under another cover an autographed photo and an autographed copy of the SAINT LOUIS BLUES with the skyline of that city as it was in 1872 ... I am closing my engagement with the Billy Rose Diamond Horseshoe show where I have appeared for about ten months, although the show might run another year. I am going to try to make a trip to the Pacific Coast this year ... I think such a trip would mean much to my business, and also would give me the urge to try for another composition like the SAINT LOUIS BLUES," etc. etc. Nice strong signature. One horizontal crease along center of letter, otherwise F/VF. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 43 Houdini, Harry, (1874-1926) thrilled ever-growing audiences for decades with his escapes from packing trunks, mail bags, water-torture chambers and everything else he (or the dying-to-stump-him public) could think of. Without doubt he was history's most celebrated magician, and the most heavily collected by autograph enthusiasts. Giant signature. The great popularity of his signature has resulted in many specimens going off the market, some never to return. This is an ABSOLUTELY GORGEOUS EXAMPLE, in strong DARK BLUE FOUNTAIN PEN on the INSIDE OF A BOOK COVER. (The book itself is not present). Cover is half leather with marbled paper on the inside. The signature is on the marbled paper. Houdini was known as a very passionate collector of old and rare books, especially those dealing with magic, spiritualism and unexplained phenomenon. Even those who may already own a Houdini signature will find this one irresistible.

- 45 Pickford, Mary, (1893-1979), star of the silent screen, established the still-thriving United Artists Corporation along with her husband Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin and D.W. Griffith. The company was set up in 1919 and became one of Hollywood's most successful studios. Signed stock certificate in the company she co-founded. This 1956 certificate assigns her 100 shares of its sister company, U.A. Theatre Circuit, Inc. Her name appears as Mary Pickford Rogers as her second husband was film star Buddy Rogers. It is accompanied by a receipt signed by her in bright blue ink, Mary Pickford Rogers. Tremendous Hollywood Memorabilia item, not likely to be found again. Comes with biographical sketch. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 44 Monroe, Marilyn. Signed check drawn on Colonial Trust Company (Rockefeller Center Office, New York City), October 9, 1958. To the order of May Reis in the amount of $61.45. Signed by Marilyn Monroe in her flourishing script with notation beneath (which she printed), "MARILYN MONROE PRODS. INC". Writing is ENTIRELY in Marilyn's hand, in violet ink. Stamped cancellation touches the "M" in Marilyn but in no way detracts from the spectacular appearance of this very valuable piece. Excellent condition. At the time of this check Marilyn was shooting "Some Like it Hot." Apparently the $61.45 represented a week's secretarial wage, not altogether terrible for 52 years ago.

Estimate $5,000 - 7,500

- 46 Presley, Elvis. Signed album, from the height of his meteoric career. "Elvis Christmas Album". RCA Victor Stereo LPS-1951 (e). Captivating close-up portrait of the youthful Elvis on sleeve, signed "My Best Wishes, Elvis Presley". Record is present along with the very scarce pictorial inner sleeve which pictures many other Elvis albums. Minor crease at lower right of outer sleeve.

Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 47 Valentino, Rudolph. Scrapbook - 1920's scrap album, 8½" x 6 3/8", leatherette covers (flexible), FILLED WITH PRESS CUTTINGS ON VALENTINO'S LIFE, DEATH AND FUNERAL. Must have been kept by a VERY devoted fan who spent years scouring newspapers for pertinent items. Includes report on speculation that Valentino's death was murder (something slipped to him in a drink). Obviously unique. About 1" missing from top of spine, otherwise F/VF. Estimate $600 - 800

Financiers, Industrialists and Businessmen

- 48 Astor, William B. Signs (again) for his father, John Jacob Astor. It is most extraordinary for two items of this nature (see above) to be included in the same sale. This is a completely different piece and the two would make a superb combination. This is an 1835 stock certificate, very early rare type in the form of an oversize check. One hundred shares of Mohawk and Hudson Railroad Company, signed "John Jacob Astor per Wm. B. Astor". Comes with portraits and biographical data. Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

- 49 Carnegie, Andrew. Signed Book, "TRIUMPHANT DEMOCRACY or Fifty Years' March of the Republic". By Andrew Carnegie. New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1888. First edition. 519 pages, folding chart, bound in bright crimson cloth with gilt lettering on spine and gilt pyramid on front cover. SIGNED AND INSCRIBED on front flyleaf, VERY BOLDLY IN JET BLACK INK: "To Mr. Chisholm, For Auld Lang Syne, & with every good wish -- Andrew Carnegie". Tremendous example. Unlike many of the financial titans, Carnegie actually had a readable writing, style. And it should be noted that "Auld Lang Syne" was the creation of his fellow Scotsman, Robert (pronounced Rabbie) Burns. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

- 50 Duke, James, (1856-1925), the great czar of American tobacco and the father of the equally illustrious Doris Duke. Signed Stock Certificate. Duke is not easy to get in authentic autographs. On any financial instrument it becomes more valuable and on an item such as this the value is numerous multiples of the ordinary signed piece, as J.B. is purchasing in trust for his daughter. Piedmont and Northern Railway Company (of South Carolina) $50,000 bond, May 2, 1917. Issued to "J.B. Duke, Trustee for Doris Duke under Trust Indenture". Very strong signature on reverse. Comes with full biographical details. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

51 Eastman, George, (1854-1932). Founder of Eastman Kodak Co. His invention of the Kodak camera in 1888 brought photography out of the lab into the public realm. Signed Bond. Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company. $5,000 bond, issued to Eastman Kodak Company, March 25, 1899, signed on back by Eastman with a colossal signature. The most desirable Eastman autographed item that could possibly be found! And the bond itself -- even if it were not signed by him -- is rare and valuable! Comes with portrait and detailed biography. Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

52 Fargo, J.C., Brother of William Fargo, one of the founders of American Express Co. and also of Wells Fargo & Co. He is perhaps best known for introduction of travelers checks. Signed Merchants Despatch Transportation Co. Stock Certificate, August 29, 1873. Signed as President by J.C. Fargo. This was one of the huge networks of interlacing companies in the Wells Fargo empire. A major business/finance autograph. Comes with portrait and bio. Estimate $750 - 1,000

53 Fargo, William G., Baron of "Old West" transport and co-founder of American Express. His gold-laden (and miscellaneous parcel laden) stagecoaches braved the bandits, Native Americans, mountain lions and sundry other pitfalls of the prairies. Stock Certificate signed. Northern Pacific Railroad Company stock certificate (of which he as a Director), February 1, 1876. Signed twice by him, on back of certificate and on attached slip. Comes with handsome color portrait and biography, which could be incorporated into a very stunning framed display. Estimate $750 - 1,000

54 Gould, Jay. Signed Stock Certificate. Buys $10,000 worth of railroad stock, places his bold signature in dark blue ink on the reverse and creates an irresistible treasure for the collector. Jay Gould (1836-1892), signature on back of certificate for 100 shares at $100 in Saint Joseph & Western Railroad, October 25, 1879. Printed in red with handsome locomotive-at-station motif. This purchase, one of many of Gould's "runs on the railroads," was part of his strategy to compete with the Union Pacific. Comes with small color portrait and info which could be incorporated into a framed or matted display. Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

55 Gould, Jay. Certificate Signed: "Union Depot Grounds and Improvements Thereon. This is to witness that Jay Gould has furnished cash to the amount of fifty thousand dollars to purchase and improve the grounds for a union depot at St. Louis" etc. etc. Certificate dated January 28, 1882. Signed on the back by Gould as purchaser and by his son George as witness. Not only much scarcer than a stock certificate (shares in the same company could be bought over and over again by the same person) but an insight into Gould's business dealings. With portrait and bio.
 Estimate $750 - 1,000

57 Morgan Jr., J.P. Signed Stock Certificate for his Father, 1896. A virtually unprocurable form of the J.P. Morgan Jr. signature, as buyer of stock for his father--who was at the dizzying heights of his fame in the Golden Nineties. No reliable estimate has ever surfaced of the House of Morgan's actual wealth at that period, but the elder J.P. had the clout (and plenty to back it up) to quell stock panics with not much more than a finger snap. Northern Pacific Railroad Company certificate, 20 shares at $100 each, terrific locomotive vignette, signed on the back. Comes with a portrait of the elder J.P. Morgan and biographical notes.
 Estimate $750 - 1,000

56 Morgan, J. Pierpont. New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, $1,000 coupon bond, payable to J. Pierpont Morgan and his business associate Harris C. Fahnestock, June 30, 1886. Signed by both as trustees. Massive 12 pages (six sheets) with 199 of the original 200 coupons intact and in excellent condition. Each coupon paid $20 and the principal could be redeemed in 1886, making the bond's total value $5,000 -- an excellent return but still well behind the dollar's rate of shrinkage. We have not previously seen an example of this bond signed by Morgan and Fahnestock. Comes with portraits and bios.
 Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

58 Olds, Ransom, The Founder of Oldsmobile (1864-1950), a major developer of the horseless carriage, built the first Oldsmobile in 1895. He later established the REO Motor Car Company, utilizing his initials. REO Motor Car Company Stock Certificate signed by Olds as President, January 10, 1916. Very frameable decorative certificate, major item of auto history. Olds started in the business long before Henry Ford! Comes with very handsome sepia-tone portrait for framing and biographical data.
 Estimate $600 - 800

- 59 Remington, Philo (Typewriter Pioneer). Beyond question the most significant "Typewriter History" item to appear for sale in many years! Holograph letter signed, two pages (two full sides of the same sheet) of Philo Remington, son of the arms manufacturer, who greatly expanded his father's business by the sale of typewriters. Though Remington did not invent the typewriter, the machine was in its very clumsy infancy when Remington came on the scene. With a firm belief that it could eventually be perfected and popularized, he tinkered with Edison-like zeal, designing and re-designing. By 1884 it was on the market commercially but on a very limited basis. The public of that time basically considered it a bother and a chore to operate and, based on the brutal look of antique specimens, it probably was. This fantastic letter, to a clergyman to whom Remington had sent a typewriter, outlines his future plans. Under date of August 20, 1884, he writes to a Rev. Hammond: "I have had one of our typewriters forwarded to your address, and trust it will reach you in good order. I fear, however, you will not find it adapted to your purpose to take with you on your journeys as proposed, in your trunk. The foreman in our typewriter department informed me that the rough handling to which trunks are subjected would speedily break or derange the typewriter, if transported in that manner. It would be necessary for you to carry it in the portable case in which it is sent, and being considerably heavier than the caligraph, you way not find it convenient to take it with you in this way. Sometime in the future a typewriter may possibly be invented which will be light and at the same time so constructed that it will not be rendered unserviceable by a little rough handling", etc. etc. Out of this germ of idea came the self-contained portable that got lighter and lighter and...well, you know the rest. Estimate $750 - 1,000

- 60 Rockefeller, John D., He lived to be 98. He distributed bright shiny dimes to children. His wealth (mostly the result of Standard Oil, but with many other corporations and investments thrown in) far outstripped Croesus, Midas and the fairytale Arabian princes with their storehouses of pure gold bricks. His name meant riches beyond tabulation and when he took a pen to sign something -- anything-- Wall Street convulsed in fear and anticipation. With the wave of a finger or flicker of a wrinkled eyelid he could send shockwaves from pole to pole. He was American finance, from the days when horsepower was supplied by horses well into the airplane age.

It would be hard to imagine a more desirable John D. Rockefeller signed document. This is a transfer form relating to stock shares purchased by him, and is accompanied by the extremely colorful certificate to which it pertains (Northern Pacific Railroad Company). Transfer is dated December 11, 1885 and is boldly signed "J.D. Rockefeller". Comes with a pair of portraits, in young and mature age, and informative biography. Estimate $2,000 - 2,500

- 61 Rockefeller, John D. and Henry M. Flagler. Signed Standard Oil Trust Stock Certificate. Standard Oil Trust, certificate for 100 shares at $100, November 27, 1886. Issued to shipping mogul Clement A. Griscom and signed Twice by him (a very scarce signature in any form), once on the registration attachment and again on the back of the certificate, very large, dark and bold. Also signed by John D. Rockefeller as President of Standard Oil and his very celebrated partner, Henry M. Flagler, as Secretary, The Rockefeller signature is an absolute GEM, much stronger than is normally the case and would certainly be a choice acquisition for a Rockefeller collector, even if he might already own one of the less spectacular examples. Comes with biographies and sepia-tone portraits on separate display cards. Could be framed for a fantastic display! Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

Rockefeller, Flagler and Andrews Together --
A combination so rare that it might border on the unique

- 62 Rockefeller, John D., with Flagler and Andrews. For those who want to be absolute cream of financial collector's items, there could be nothing more desirable. Standard Oil Trust Certificate, 100 shares at $100, issued so steam tycoon Wallace C. Andrews. Andrews (1833-1899), who died tragically in a house fire, was the man responsible for installation of steam heating in the many thousands of apartments buildings built in New York City during the later 1800's as well as hotels, office complexes, government facilities, etc. He was CEO of the Steam Heating and Power Company of New York which later became New York Steam Company. Having a virtual monopoly on the business, it brought colossal profits, making Andrews a very, very wealthy man. Certificate is signed (as President) by John F. Flagler, his business partner. Also signed by Andrews (on the back), very large signature. It is most uncommon for such a variety of John D. Rockefeller signatures to be offered in a single sale. They are not only scarce but seldom placed on the market by their owners, such is the reverence in which his memory is held. And it should be noted that these are all prime, choice examples suitable for a collection of the highest standards. Comes with portraits and biographies of Rockefeller, Flagler and Andrews.

Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

- 63 Rockefeller, William. Stock Certificate. One of the storied names in 19th century American industry buys 100 shares at $100 each of Northern Pacific. William Rockefeller (1841-1922), brother of John D. and likewise a very prominent oilman. Signature as purchaser on back of Northern Pacific Railroad Company stock certificate, November 2, 1885. Comes with portrait and biographical data.

Estimate $750 - 1,000

- 64 Rockefeller, William and Henry H. Rogers. Signatures of both on a Standard Oil Stock Certificate. William Rockefeller (1842-1922), brother of John D., and Henry Huttleston Rogers (1840-1909), who was reputed to be wealthier than J. Pierpont Morgan. Signatures of both on Standard Oil Trust certificate, January 18, 1898. Signatures of these two titans together on the same certificate are Considerably more valuable than on separate certificates. With portraits and biographies.

Estimate $750 - 1,000

65 Rogers, Henry H., (1840-1909) did not fit the mold of your typical multi-multi-millionaire. He did not found a major corporation and utilize a portion of its profits to build sister and brother companies. Rather he went in various directions, snapping up companies here and there which bore little or no relation to each other. In a career about 50 years he earned the reputation of "hell hound" and "robber baron" for his forceful and sometimes ethically questionable business tactics. But he sure could pile up the bucks. According to "The Wealthy", a 1996 publication ranking the richest Americans of all time, Rogers placed ahead of J. Pierpont Morgan as well as a roster of others including William Rockefeller (John D.'s brother), J. Paul Getty and Bill Gates.

Signed Standard Oil Trust Certificate. Issued to him, July 7, 1896. Signed very boldly on the back. There are not too many opportunities to get an authentic Rogers signature on a prime financial instrument. Comes with portrait and very extensive biographical data. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

67 Vassar, Matthew, (1792-1868), came to America from England at age four, settled in Poughkeepsie, New York and made his fortune in brewing. He is now best known as the founder of Vassar College.

Pair of stock certificates in Michigan Southern Rail Road Company, both 1854, one issued to Matthew Sr. and another to Matthew Jr., signed by both. Exceedingly rare, very desirable combination, comes with portrait and biographical information. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

66 Vanderbilt, Alfred Gwynne. Stock Certificate signed by him plus receipt (also signed by him) and a rare postcard of the ship on which he met a tragic death. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt (1877-1915) was lost on the luxury liner Lusitania when it was sunk by German U-Boats in World War I. Very desirable stock certificate, "The Spuyten Duyvil and Port Morris Railroad Co.," 359 shares @ $100 each, November 7, 1907. The shares are purchased by Vanderbilt, who affixes his strong signature in black fountain pen. together with receipt for Vanderbilt's sale of this block of shares, January 22, 1909, also signed by him, accompanied by very early postcard view of the Lusitania, giving tonnage, dimensions etc. One corner of postcard creased, but a most noteworthy lot.

Estimate $750 - 1,000

68 Wells, Henry and Fargo, William G. Signatures on Stock Certificate of their historic company. American Express Company, certificate for five shares at $500 each, early Civil War date, January 2, 1865. Signed by Henry Wells (1806-1878) as President and William G. Fargo (1818-1881) as Secretary. These were the original founders of Wells, Fargo & Co. and (of course) the Pony Express. Their signatures together on a single document, especially a stock certificate in one of their very celebrated companies, are highly prized. The Civil War date lends additional appeal. Comes with portraits and biographical data.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

69 Whitney, William Collins, (1841-1904), founder of the Whitney dynasty which gained great prominence in various fields of business—but to most of the public he was best known as developer of the Whitney Stables.
Signed Railroad Stock Certificate. Huge bold signature on stock certificate of the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad Company, April 18, 1874. This is a rare and very desirable certificate for the collector of historic railroad stocks but with the Whitney signature added it becomes an item to treasure! Comes with display sheet with portrait and biographical sketch. Estimate $750 - 1,000

71 Ford Motor Company. Production File. For the automotive history collector, a lot that will lend prestige even to the most advanced collection. Original "Plant Order" by Ford Motor Company for printing its stock certificates. Order is for 150,000 certificates of three different types (green, orange and red). Order is dated 1974. Included are two proof or sample versions, with vignette, border and partial lettering, one in color (green) and one in b/w with on glossy photographic paper. Condition basically Fine. Three items. Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

Finance: Stocks and Bonds

70 Duesenberg Automobile & Motors Co. Stock Certificate. By very far the most popular and most desirable of all American auto-related stock certificates. Original Duesenberg Automobile & Motors Co., Inc. Certificate, March 9, 1923. Choice condition with the maroon and black printing Extra Sharp and the paper fresh and immaculate. Vignette of two globes with "industry" (classical female) holding wreath. Comes with full history. The Duesenberg created such a stir in the Roaring Twenties that anything remarkable or noteworthy was called a "Doozey". Accompanied by Pass-Co Certificate of authenticity, which grades this beautiful example AU (About Uncirculated), a category into which less than 5% of existing stock certificates of this age would fall. Estimate $750 - 1,000

72 Jersey Shore, Pine Creek & Buffalo Railway Company. $10,000 Railway Bond of 1882, Signed by Three Important Vanderbilts! Cornelius Vanderbilt (1843-99), Financier, Philanthropist. Asst. Treasurer of New York & Harlem RR, then President from 1886 until his death. Trustee and benefactor of numerous colleges & universities in NY. William K. Vanderbilt (1849-1920), Chairman of the board of directors of Lake Shore & Michigan Southern RR (1883-1903); President of NY, Chicago & St. Louis Rwy (1882-87). Frederick W. Vanderbilt (1856-1938), Capitalist, PHD from Yale. He worked in every department of his father's railroad system. This 1882, Pennsylvania $10,000 engraved bond is signed by these important sons of William H. Vanderbilt. Issued as well to William H. Vanderbilt and also signed by Chauncey M. Depew (legal advisor and right hand man of the Vanderbilt empire). Brothers, Cornelius, and Frederick, sign at back (with usual hole cancellations). The third brother, Wm. K. Vanderbilt signs at front. His signature and Depew's are superb and untouched by the cancellation holes. Estimate $750 - 1,000

- 73 New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad. Rare bond signed by Lewis Comfort Tiffany for the estate of his father, Charles L. Tiffany, founder of the eponymous jewelry company. 1893, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. $5,000 50 year 5% gold bond. Brown. Vignette of a mythic female at top center. Issued to Charles L. Tiffany (1812-1902). The founder of the Tiffany's firm, he started by selling glass and jewelry. He took advantage of the Revolutions of 1848 to buy diamonds cheaply in Europe. Also signed on verso by his son, Louis Comfort Tiffany (1848-1933). Artist; Glass maker; Producer of the famous Tiffany Lamp. Tiffany's early interest and talent for art led him to the development of his own process for staining glass and thus his production of much great glass artistry. Between 1893 and 1926, Tiffany received numerous awards including the Grand Prix and a gold medal at the Paris Exposition of 1900. A fine multi-generational piece bearing the scarce signature of Louis Comfort Tiffany. Punch cancelled. Fine.

Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 74 Standard Oil Trust. Stock Certificate signed by William A. Rockefeller Jr. (1841-1922), brother of John D. Rockefeller, and Henry M. Flagler (1830-1913). For many years they were partners together in numerous ventures as well as independent enterprises (such as Flagler's Florida East Coast Railway, which resulted in the establishment of the town of Miami). By very far their greatest collaboration -- along with John D. Rockefeller and several other luminaries -- was the Standard Oil Company. This is an Assignment of Legal Title (in stock certificate form) for Standard Oil Trust, October 21, 1897, signed by both Rockefeller and Flagler. Comes with portraits of both and informative biographies.

Estimate $750 - 1,000

- 75 Toms River & Forked River Turnpike Company. Stock Certificate - not just rare but absolutely unique-- the only one ever found! The Toms River & Forked River Turnpike Company came into being in 1867. It became County Route 537 in the state of New Jersey and carried heavy volume of farm products (eggs, milk, etc.) via horse drawn wagon. This was a major route in the history of New Jersey transportation and in the state's commercial development. It was a corporate rather than state venture, with revenue to be garnered via the collection of tolls along the road. This certificate is well known in the hobby as a unique piece. It is dated November 20, 1868 and carries a most attractive vignette of a passenger-laden coach being drawn by a two-horse team. Buff colored paper with maroon printing. Comes with history of the venture.

Military: U.S. Civil War

- 76 Alabama Parole Of A Confederate Soldier. The document numbered 631 reads in part, "I, the undersigned, Prisoner of War, belonging to the Army of the Department of Alabama, Mississippi and East Louisiana, having been surrendered by Lieut. Gen. R. Taylor, C. L. A., Commanding said Department. do hereby give my solemn parole of honor, that I will not hereafter serve in the Armies of the Confederate States or in any military capacity whatever, against the United States of America ." Signed by "L.N. Cole" of the 8th Alabama Cavalry. Heavily restored but still very presentable and legible, F.-V.F.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

77 Battle Flag of Fort Morgan-Battle of Mobile Bay. Naval battle fought on August 5, 1864 while admiral Franklin Buchanan led the Confederate Fleet. The Flag Relic piece came from the confederate flag shot down over Fort Morgan, it was retrieved by fleet surgeon James C. Palmer. Accompanying certificate states that the flag shows scorching and discoloration due to the intense fire and heat generated by the Federal Bombardment. Exciting Civil War item.
Estimate $500 - 750

79 Civil War Barrack's Flag Remnant. Originated from a 34-star U.S. Flag used during the Civil War, along with a brass infantry horn insignia hat piece with both original hooks, that was worn on the KEPI of a Federal Infantry Soldier, Certificate of authenticity included.
Estimate $500 - 750

78 Battle Flag Remnant of the 5th Texas Infantry: " The Bloody 5th", Hood's Brigade. Also included copy of the Carte de Viste of the Texas Battle Flag, both items belonged to ensign W.C. Clarke, the Flag Bearer of the 5th Texas Infantry, and came from his effects, Certificate of authenticity included.
Estimate $500 - 750

80 Civil War Document. Account of pay and clothing August 9, 1864. Important personal record kept for each soldier giving complete physical description, date of enlistment, pay received and/or due, clothing expenses, amount allowed if the soldier used his own horse etc. As these were intended to be destroyed after entry into the official records (so states in the notes on the document) they are not plentiful.
Estimate $100 - 150

- 81 Handmade Civil War Newspaper. Stunning hand colored newspaper is called the "Semi-annual Olio" and is devoted to "Science, Literature, Romance, Education Morrals, Health Amusements. The Seminannual Olio is just the paper for Generals, Blacksmiths and the President as it would have told McLellan how to get more men to Richmond than what was taken prisoners and that there is land enough upworth that needs distling with going ... to the Chichihawning Swamps and it would inform the president that there is a half a dozen of them everlasting negroes got lives down south and that he needs at least 250,000 more men to put things down, and in the language. word that it is necessary to take vigorous means to put down Rebellion." The newspaper has 18 pages, 16 of which are filled with writing. The newspaper, more of a booklet style features a front cover with a wonderful illustration of the American flag and with writing instruments. The book is threaded together with red, white and blue ribbons decorating the spine. Another excerpt from the paper reads, "This was that is now raging in our land is the cause of many miseris many of which are witnessed at our own firesides and in our social circles the. of dear friends and the scarcity of candles has been rounded for the last two weeks some have abandoned the use of the article entirely on Sunday nights .", Very Fine.
Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

- 82 Nail and Block of Wood from the Libby Prison in Richmond Virginia. Used as a military prison by the Confederate Government, in 1889 the prison was dismantled and the material sold in various transactions, this small section of tide water cypress (approximately 4 x 4 x 1/4") and the iron nail originated from one of the Libby Prison materials, also included photos of the Confederate Commandant in front of the prison and of the reconstructed Libby Prison interior in the Chicago Museum 8x10 inch copy of the original photograph of the north side of the Libby Prison taken May 1865 on back of frame.
Estimate $400 - 600

- 83 Proclamation Of Amnesty Arkansas. Party Printed Document Signed "John Thompson," countersigned "W.B. McNeill" as Clerk of the Circuit Court, Columbia County, Arkansas, one page, 8" x 6.25". Columbia County, Arkansas, December 18, 1865. Completed in manuscript by McNeill. Two ink stains. Fine condition.

Headed: "Amnesty Oath, under Proclamation of the President of the United States, dated May 29, 1865." In full, "State of Arkansas. Columbia County. I John Thompson of Columbia County, State of Arkansas, do solemnly swear, in the presence of Almighty God, that I will henceforth faithfully support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, and the Union of States thereunder: and that I will in like manner, abide by and faithfully support all laws and proclamations which have been made during the existing rebellion with reference to the emancipation of slaves--so help me God. [signed] John Thompson. Sworn to, and subscribed, before me, this 18th day of December 1865. [signed] W B McNeill. Clerk of the Circuit Court Columbia County."

On May 29, 1865, eight weeks after the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln, President Andrew Johnson issued a "Proclamation of Amnesty and Reconstruction.", Very Fine.
Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

- 84 Signed Carte de Viste Captain A J McGinnigle. Noted on back with Sheridan's staff. Estimate $100 - 150
- 85 Union Mottoes - 1860s - Exceptionally Rare Originals. Unused on full sheets as issued. A little-known figure of the war (except to advanced historians) was a C.Y. Haynes of Philadelphia, a printer whose patriotism, and love of a few dollars on the side, led him to produce a series of "Union Mottoes". These were small, colorful bits of paper, measuring about 7/8" wide 1/2" high, carrying the popular rallying cries of the day: "Uphold the men who fight your battles"; "Strike for the Government and Union"; "Cursed be he who would destroy our country"; "Wipe out the insults heaped upon me". Many were accompanied by graphics symbolism, such as a flag, scroll, death's head, etc. Sold in sheets of 24, they were intended to be cut apart and pasted on letters and envelopes. This lot comprises two full double sheets of 48, unused and uncut. One sheet is normal issue, printed in red on white paper. Other sheet is very exotic variety printed in gold on black paper. These are original, not reprints or reissues. Fabulous! In fine condition. No photo. Estimate $500 - 750

- 86 Vicksburg Citizen Wallpaper Newspaper Reprint. Reprint of the famous last edition of the Vicksburg Citizen. The paper was printed on wallpaper stock as newsprint supplies were depleted.

Vicksburg was under siege from May 22 until July 4, 1863, and faced a daily barrage of gunfire from Union forces under Ulysses S. Grant. J.M. Swords, editor of the Vicksburg Daily Citizen attempted to boost morale among soldiers and citizens through his editorials during the siege. After a mortar destroyed the Daily Whig, Swords' paper became Vicksburg's only remaining periodical. Keeping the paper in business was throughout the siege proved difficult. On June 16, a mortar hit his office causing a huge mess. As supplies became scarce, Swords' ran out of newsprint. He was forced to use the backside of wallpaper rolls to print the Citizen.

When issued on July 2nd, the editor included the following note: "On Dit.--That the great Ulysses--the Yankee Generalissimo, surnamed Grant-has expressed his intention of dining in Vicksburg on Saturday next, and celebrating the 4th of July by a grand dinner and so forth. When asked if he would invite Gen. Jo. Johnston to join he said 'No! For fear there will be a row at the table' Ulysses must get into the city before he dines in it. The way to cook a rabbit is 'first catch the rabbit' &c."

When Union forces finally entered the city July 4th, they found the type still standing, and proceeded to issue the paper again with the addition of the following note: "Two days bring about great changes, the banner of the Union floats over Vicksburg, Gen Grant has 'caught the rabbit;' he has dined in Vicksburg, and he did bring his dinner with him. The 'Citizen' lives to see it. For the last time it appears on 'Wall-paper.' No more will it eulogize the luxury of mule-meat and fricasseed kitten--urge Southern warriors to such diet never more, This is the last wall-paper edition, and is, excepting this note, from the types as we found them. It will be valuable hereafter as a curiosity." A few edge tears and mended at center where separated., Fine.

Military: Confederate Civil War Generals

- 87 Beauregard, P.G.T. (Confederate General), French-American from New Orleans, became (and remains, actually) the stereotypical symbol of the Deep, Deep South. Steeped in European culture, oozing charm and impeccable manners, brave and fearless but soft spoken (usually), he was a sort of Rhett Butler on a scale that no novelist could have invented. He loved the South, its people and traditions. So much so that he ditched a lucrative, cushy job as Superintendent of the West Point Military Academy as soon as shots rang out and joined the Confederate army. There he distinguished himself, taking part in the siege of Ft. Sumter as well as the epochal battles of First Bull Run (a huge victory for the rebels) Shiloh and others. After the war he managed the Louisiana State Lottery, wrote books and sipped mint juleps on the veranda, a patriarch to the Southern people up to his passing in 1893. Letter. A good Beauregard has always been deemed essential for a collection of Confederate autographs and this one is exceptional indeed, a holograph letter signed, written from New Orleans in 1882. Sent to General Wright in Washington, D.C., he thanks him for his package of "copies" (presumably of a government publication), says he has ordered General Hapgood's Report etc. Very strong bold writing with excellent signature. Matted and framed with photographic portrait in military dress and a gilt engraved plaque giving biographical information. Deluxe framing utilizing all archival materials and charcoal grey fabric mat. Letter measures about 5" x 7 3/4", overall 22" x 25".

Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 88 Branch, Lawrence O'Brian (Confederate General), (1820-1862), a major Confederate General who fought alongside Stonewall Jackson and was killed in action in 1862. A three-term Congressman from North Carolina, at the war's outbreak he enlisted in the rebel army as a private but, thanks to this credentials, was quickly brought up in rank. Personally involved in almost all the major engagements of the war's first 1½ years (Cold Harbor, Mechanicsville, Fairfax Courthouse, Second Bull Run etc.). He was picked off by a Union sharpshooter at Antietam and died at age 42. To the south he was a martyr/hero. Signature as President on Raleigh and Gaston Railroad Company stock certificate. Estimate $150 - 200

- 89 Johnston, Joseph E. (Confederate General). Autograph Letter Signed, "J. E. Johnston", two pages, on facing conjoined pages, 5.5" X 8.75" visible, January 7, 1885, Washington, D.C. Addressed to Major Stiles. Framed such that the ALS from Major Stiles to Mr. [Dr.] Jones, penned on the verso of Johnston's letter, is displayed as well on the verso of the frame. Frame measures 18" X 16". The usual folds, else fine condition.

Johnston's letter reads in part, "...as to the report of the battle of 7 Pines by Longstreet - Dr. Jones and I had an earliest conversation on the subject. I claiming that the book purporting to be Gen'l L's order book was not authority against the report I received by me. And urging him to accept the latter as the official one, as I offered it. He refused, but consented to let the report made to me, be deposited near or by the order book. This was after 1878. / As this paper was not accepted as official, I now claim it for use. It is of interest to me - because the copy in the order book has an interpolation which contradicts my report of the battle, in all items taken from Longstreet's report to me - The only official one."

Major Stiles letter to Mr. Jones on the verso begins, "You see... General Jos Johnston's impression is that he had left with you this 'official' report. / Please write to me a letter responding to this point, that I may forward it to him. / I understand your memory is distinct to the contrary of this.", Very Fine. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 90 Lee, Robert E. (Confederate General). General Order No. 9, signed in type "R. E. LEE, General", one page, 3.75" X 6", April 10, 1865, printed on verso of a recycled partial Confederate commissary's receipt with "Lynchburg" printed at top. This printing is an unrecorded, hitherto unknown variant, and a possible expedient field printing. One slightly diagonal fold crosses over the 'r' in Northern and the 'p' in April, else fine condition.

The text is hand-set letterpress, exhibiting a hurried quality, as there is a misspelled word, with a line of type that goes off horizontal, but with justified text. The receipt form and the dateline are the only immediate clues to the point of origin of this famous order, which may have been distributed for the information of officers and troops at Appomattox. The distinctly crude quality of the print suggests it could have been done on a field press, or, alternatively, hastily done local newspaper work. The text has slight grammar and punctuation differences from that published in The Wartime Papers of R.E. Lee, plus a few differences in wording (which, however, can also be found in the various manuscript copies Lee signed). In full, "Head Quarters Army Northern Virginia, April 10th, 1865. General Orders, No 9. After four years of arduous services, marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the Army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources. I need not tell the brave survivors of so many hard fought battles, who have remained steadfast to the last, that I have consented to this result from no distrust of them. But feeling that valor and devotion could accomplish nothing that would compensate for the loss which would have accompanied a continuance of the contest, I determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose past services have endeared them to their countrymen. By the terms of the agreement, Officers and men can return to their homes and remain until exchanged. You will take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed; and I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend to you his blessing and protection. With an unceasing admiration of your constancy and devotion to your country, and a grateful remembrance of your kiLd [sic] and generous con- sideration for myself, I bid you an affectionate farewell. / R. E. Lee, General." A facsimile of the commissary receipt on verso is mounted along side the original document in this gorgeous framed display.

(2) Remarkable Facsimile Printing of the original handwritten order, printed by R.R. Donnelley & Sons Company, one page, 7.75" X 11.5".

(3) Large Original Signature, "R. E. Lee", affixed to a 3.5" X 2" card on which is written in unknown hand, "Cmdr Rebel Armys". Written in small numbers above Lee's signature is "#212", else fine condition.

More than half a dozen notes passed between Grant and Lee, until on April 9th, Lee finally reluctantly decided to accept Grant's terms. "There is nothing left for me to do but to go and see General Grant...and I would rather die a thousand deaths." The historic meeting took place at the house of Wilmer McLean at the village of Appomattox Court House on the afternoon of April 9, 1865. Lee, accompanied by his military aide, Colonel Charles Marshall, was the first to arrive - Grant arrived half an hour later. Lee was dressed in full uniform, an engraved sword by his side; Grant wore a dirty shirt (the type a private would wear) with his boots and trousers splattered with mud. Only his general's stars denoted his rank. Grant offered generous terms of surrender: "The arms, artillery and public property to be parked and stacked and turned over to the officer appointed by me to receive them. This will not embrace the side arms of the officers nor their private horses or baggage. This done each officer and man will, be allowed to return to their homes, not to be disturbed by United States authority as long as they observe their parole and the laws in force where they may reside." Grant, who had previously demanded the unconditional surrenders of Fort Donelson and Vicksburg, now considered the war truly over and decided it would be best to let the defeated insurgents return to their homes. Lee concurred: "this will have the best possible effect on the men." In keeping with his generosity, Grant also authorized 25,000 rations to feed Lee's starving army and ordered joyous Union troops to cease firing salutes and to restrain from cheering. 28,365 officers and men were paroled according to the terms of surrender.

Charles Marshall, who wrote out the order, described how General Order No. 9 came to be. "On the night of April 9th...General Lee sat with several of us at a fire in front of his tent, and after some conversation about the army and the events of the day in which his feelings toward his men were strongly expressed, he told me to prepare an order to the troops...." Lee edited the first draft, making a few minor changes and striking out a paragraph, which he felt would keep alive the current hostilities between the North and South. Marshall rewrote the order and then gave it to a clerk at the Adjutant General's office to be copied in ink and distributed to Corps commanders and other members of the army staff. Each of these copies was carefully signed by Lee that day. Lee hoped his general order would help ease the South's humiliation and sense of loss that came with the surrender. His men loved and respected him and would have followed him to certain death. This order showed his men that he cared too much to let them sacrifice them to a lost cause. Very Fine. Estimate $15,000 - 20,000

91 Lee, Robert E. (Confederate General). Framed Display:
(1) Signature "R.E. Lee" on a 2.5" x 2" slip of paper.

(2) Six strands of Lee's silver grey hair authenticated by Charles Hamilton (certification included), cut by Lee from his head on April 19, 1869, and presented to Louise R. Thome.

(3) Manuscript Copy, Lee's "General Orders No. 9," one page, 8" x 12.25". [Appomattox Court House, Virginia, April 10, 1865]. In unknown hand. On verso of integral leaf, physically to the left of the order, is a Manuscript Document Signed by 30 Confederate soldiers of a regiment of Engineer Troops, present at the surrender. Coincidentally, after his graduation from West Point in 1829, Robert E. Lee had joined the U.S. Corps of Engineers. Overall size, 16" x 12.5". Headed by 1st Lieutenant John E. Roller: "Roll of officers and men of Company 'G' 2nd Regiment Engineer Troops present at Surrender of 'Army of Northern Virginia' near Appomattox Court House Virginia on the 9th of April 1865." Signed: "B M Harrod Capt," "J.E. Roller 1st Lt.," and "Fred Harris 2nd Lt." And, in two columns, by 27 members of Company G including "T S Kitchens" (Roller added "3rd Sergt" to Kitchen's signature), "D.T. Williams 4th Sgt.," "James J. Medcalf 3rd Corpl.," "J.S. Brady," "D. Butler," "Thomas Case," "W M. Cross," "N D Cooper," "Wm H Gillikin," "JW Harper," "Stanley Leggett," "M A McDougald," "Benjamin Morris," "D.W. Payne," "R. Popham," "Jas. B. Stanly," "J.W. Stansell," and "Wm. Sutton." Company G's Captain, Benjamin M. Harrod (1837-1912), later served as Chief State Engineer of Louisiana and City Engineer of New Orleans. He was appointed to the Panama Canal Commissions by Pres. Theodore Roosevelt in 1902 and 1905. Plastic tape on verso at the four corners show through in blank areas.

Since this document was first signed, in order, by the Captain, two Lieutenants, three Sergeants, and three Corporals, and then by 21 privates (in alphabetical order), one can picture what occurred on April 10, 1865, at Appomattox after General Lee's order was read aloud to Company 'G' 2nd Regiment Engineer Troops, present the previous day at the surrender. The roll was called. As usual, it began with the sergeants, then corporals, continuing with, in alphabetical order, the privates. But this time, it was different. Instead of just answering "Here," which by habit he probably did, each soldier signed his name on the page opposite his commanding general's order. The war was over. It was time to go home whether it was to a farm in Virginia or Georgia or to a ranch in Texas. Unlike Confederate regiments formed in each state, each of the regiments of Engineer Troops was comprised of soldiers from Infantry divisions from all the states.

This manuscript copy of Lee's order, in full: "Hd. Qrs. Army Northern Virginia, April 10th, 1865. General Orders, No 9. After four years of arduous service marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude the Army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources. I need not tell the brave survivors of so many hard fought battles, who have remained steadfast to the last, that I have consented to this result from no distrust of them. But feeling that valor & devotion could accomplish nothing that would compensate for the loss that must have attended the continuance of the contest. I determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose services have endeared them to their countrymen. By terms of agreement Officers & men can return to their homes & remain until exchanged. You will take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed. & I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend to you his blessing & protection. With an unceasing [sic] admiration of your constancy & devotion to your country and grateful remembrance of kind & generous consideration of myself. I bid you all an affectionate [sic] farewell. Signed R. E. Lee General."

A similar Manuscript Copy of Lee's "General Orders No. 9" on "State of Virginia/Executive Department/Richmond" stationery, not personally signed by Lee, sold for $15,535 by Heritage Auction Galleries in 2007.

The copy offered here, signed by 30 Confederate soldiers in their last roll call ostensibly on April 10, 1865, on the page next to Gen. Lee's farewell to them which commended their "unsurpassed courage and fortitude...steadfast to the last," and told them they "can return to their homes...[with] the satisfaction that proceeds from the consciousness of duty faithfully performed," is the only transcript of General Order No. 9 we have ever seen signed by a regiment of soldiers to whom Gen. Lee was directing the order. Other than one of the orders actually signed by Lee (a similar condition example would sell for $200,000), this document would be the cornerstone of a Civil War military collection.

(4) Partly Printed Document Signed "T.M.R. Talcott," one page, 7.75" x 3". "Col. Com'dg. Eng." may be on the line beneath his signature. Appomattox Court House, Va., April 10, 1865. Filled out in manuscript. Age has lightened the manuscript ink. This document has been expertly restored, darkening the ink. In full, "The Bearer, John E. Roller of Co. G 2nd Regt. of Engr. Troops, a Paroled Prisoner of the Army of Northern Virginia, has permission to go to his home, and there remained undisturbed." Mounting stains on verso at the corners show through.

The four historic components of this magnificent collection are matted together with a 5.25" x 3.25" color illustration of the surrender at Appomattox Court House and three engraved identification plaques, and framed under glass to an overall size of 36.5" x 27.5"., Very Fine.

Estimate $15,000 - 20,000

- 92 Mahone, William (Confederate General), (1826-1895), Confederate General who saw considerable battle action, was seriously wounded and became a great hero of the southern people. A native Virginian, Mahone had been in the railroad business even before the war, but his most lucrative involvement came during Reconstruction. Eventually he entered politics and became U.S. Senator.

Signed Coupon Bond. Atlantic, Ohio & Mississippi Rail Road Company. $1,000 coupon bond, September 9, 1871. Signed as President by William Mahone. Bond is extremely handsome with large scenic vignette of railroad train passing through woodland with mountain in background. Retains all but three of its original 60 coupons (which also carry railroad motif). Comes with portrait and historical information. Elsewhere in this sale is a stock certificate of the same line, also signed by Mahone. The two together would make a most impressive duo, probably not found in any collection outside of the state archives or historical societies.

Estimate $400 - 600

- 93 Mahone, William (Confederate General), (1826-1895), a saloon keeper's son, went from the Virginia Military Institute in 1847 to a career in railroad. By 1861 (the war's outbreak) he was President of the Norfolk-Petersburg line, whose extensive road system he had personally designed. After the Civil War, in which he saw considerable battlefield action and received a serious wound, he was back to railroading. His fame became such in his home state that he served for a time as Senator from Virginia.

Signed Stock Certificate. As a so-called combination celebrity -- a Civil War General also famous in another field -- collector interest has always been especially strong in William Mahone. Here he signs, as President, a stock certificate in the Atlantic, Mississippi and Ohio Railroad Company, dated 1872. Desirable! Comes with portrait and detailed biography.

Estimate $300 - 400

- 94 Quarles, William (Confederate General), (1825-1893), steely-eyed defender of the Old South and quite sharp with a greenback too, could have easily stepped from the pages of "Gone with the Wind". As Brigadier General he played a major role in the attempt to save Atlanta from the Yankee incursion. Johnson's Island prison camp but -- thanks to a P.O.W. swap -- became a free man and was ready for more. After being wounded a number of times, once almost fatally, he was captured again (December 1864). This time his liberation occurred with the war's conclusion. He had been active in local government and commercial enterprise, serving as President of the Memphis, Clarksville & Louisville Rail Road Co.

Signed Bond. A virtually "one of a kind" item meshing railroad Americana and Civil War history in a decorative display piece. It was while holding the office of railway president that he signed the huge coupon bond offered here, dated March 1, 1860 (more than a year before the war). It retains all 20 of the original coupons and is in extra fine condition. Contains four vignettes, including a railroad train and paddle-wheel steamboat. Signature is exceptionally dark and sharp. A piece to treasure! Comes with portrait and biographical information.

Military: Union Civil War Generals

- 95 Burnside, Ambrose (Union General), (1824-1881), beyond doubt one of the Civil War's most popular and most publicized Generals, though Grant (his superior) had doubts about his tactical skill. And he looked the part: tall, chiseled features, and bushy whiskers extending down beyond his earlobes. Thanks to the fact that his portrait was frequently published, the style became adopted by numerless wannabees and the whiskers were termed "sideburns" (his name turned around).

Signed 1870 Gold Mortgage Bond. Burnside's standing with Civil War collectors has always been extra high, regardless of his battlefield blunders; all Burnside autograph material is very diligently sought. This is an item you are not likely to find on the market again, an 1870 Gold Mortgage Bond of the United States Freehold Land and Emigration Company, signed by Burnside as a trustee. Ornate bond is in the sum of $1,000 and still retains 42 of its original 49 coupons. Ideal for display! Comes with biographical information. Estimate $500 - 750

- 96 McClellan, George (Union General). Letter. Over the years McClellan's autograph has been avidly sought by Civil War collectors and Lincoln enthusiasts, and the supply of really desirable items is now quite low. THIS IS AN EXCEPTIONAL, VERY LENGTHY A.L.S. (17 lines plus close and signature) on letterhead of "The National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers" in Orange, New Jersey. Dated 1883 it is addressed to a "dear Frank" and tells of his travels, projects he is engaged in etc. One of the absolutely best McClellan letters on the market in years. Double matted and frame with photographic portrait of him in military dress, bareheaded (his large "handlebar" mustache was a trend setter that remained in fashion over 40 years and has staged numerous comebacks). Also gilt engraved nameplate. Letter is about 8 1/2" x 11", overall size about 22 1/2" x 19". VF condition. Estimate $750 - 1,000

- 97 Wadsworth, James S. (Union General), The historic Union general slain in the overland campaign (also known as battle of the Wilderness). James S. Wadsworth (1807-1864) was not the typical soldier. He came from an extremely wealth-laden family which owned endless tracts of land in New York State. Even worse he had no military background and, worse still, was 54 years old at the war's outbreak. Known as a philanthropist and skilled business manager (he oversaw the family estate) he had strong patriotic feelings and signed up following Harper's Ferry. Thanks to his famed administrative skills he was commissioned and subsequently became a brigade commander in McClellan's Army of the Potomac. After serving with rare distinction in a number of campaigns he received a fatal wound at the Battle of the Wilderness, May 6, 1864. The Confederates placed him (as a prisoner) in one of their hospitals but he died two days thereafter.

Signed railroad stock certificate. Signature as purchaser of 622 shares of Buffalo & State Line Rail Road (signed on back of certificate). Dated December 11, 1857. Civil War Generals killed in action are of utmost scarcity on stock certificates. For a comparable piece (on the Confederate side) see the Lawrence Branch offered elsewhere in this sale. Estimate $600 - 800

Military: World War II Generals

- 98 MacArthur, Douglas. Autographed cover. Signed in ink on cover commemorating the third anniversary of American return to Manila, franked with three stamps picturing MacArthur. Signature has some light staining., F.-V.F. Estimate $200 - 300

99 Patton, George S. Handwritten Letter. Here is the absolute ultimate for collectors of General George S. Patton and military history: A handwritten letter, in the field, as Patton takes part in U.S. maneuvers in the Mexican Revolution Crisis in 1915 -- Three decades before his World War II Fame. Estimate $5,000 - 7,500

100 Patton, George S. TLS signed "G. S. Patton, Jr.," two pages, 8 x 10.5, July 27, 1927. Patton writes to breeder Alfred Carter in Kamuela, Hawaii. In part: "While I was in California Major C. L. Scott of the remount service wrote me saying that he had received my report of the horses purchased from you and that as a result of these he was most delighted with the type of horse. The result of this was that Scott would like to buy from forty to fifty more horses for use at the Cavalry School, Fort Riley, Kansas. He requested me to find out from you whether you would be willing to sell approximately that number (40 to 50) of your colts by the T. B. sires at the same price as paid for the last lot that is $180.00 per horse. Of course I realize that asking only for horses from certain sires is more to the advantage of the Government than to that of the ranch. On the other hand you might feel that having the horses selected for a special place where only the best are sent would be worth something .... The transport Meigs will be by here towards the end of August or the first of September and if the horses are sold we would want to ship them on her." In fine condition. Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

Nautical

101 Shipboard Relic from The Titanic's Sister Ship. Silver Cake cutter from the service used on board the H.M.S. majestic, gorgeously matted and framed with contemporary postcard and menu. The White Star Majestic, build to the same specifications as the Titanic, is often referred to as its sister ship. For this reason the collecting appeal is especially strong. For many years it ruled the Atlantic as the largest and mightiest liner, ferrying lords, ladies, princes and other dignitaries from Southampton to New York. 8 1/2" silver cake cutter with impressed flag motif, futed handle. Matted and framed with circa 1920 color postcard of the ship and scarce breakfast menu dated September 29, 1928. Overall about 17" x 13", simple black frame, all archival materials. Estimate $600 - 800

- 102 "Titanic" Newspaper with lengthy reports of the disaster and many photos. "The New York Herald" for April 17, 1912, framed to display front page. "The Titanic torn asunder when she struck iceberg going at 18-knot speed". Without radio, television or electronic media, the stunned public and terrified relatives awaited each edition of the newspaper for updated reports on the Titanic's sinking. It is not surprising that the earliest numbers, from the first few days following the tragedy, have become prime collector's items, fueled of course by the many layers of mystique surrounding the downfall of this supposedly unsinkable ship. The Newspaper here offered is acknowledged one of the most significant and collectible. The framed front page carries two major reports, "Only Gallantry of Officers and crew saved the 868 who are aboard the Carpathia" and "The Titanic sent out warnings of icebergs one hour before the crash". There is also a third report, about starting an "iceberg patrol" in the North Atlantic. But the primary focus is an unforgettable gallery of photographs of socialites and dowerers aboard the ship who were safe on the Carpathia. These included Mrs. John Jacob Astor, Mrs. George D. Widener, Lady Cosmo Duff Gordon (who lent a big hand on her lifeboat) and a number of others, a veritable Social Register of the time. There is also an artist's sketch of the doomed vessel listing before going down. Basically F/VF condition with minor separation along the center fold. 16" x 22", in a simple silver frame. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

- 103 Whaler's Branding Iron. In the days of whaling (as its height from about 1840 to 1870), the oil was of course the most profitable article yielded by these majestic creatures. It was used in lamps for homes and businesses until replaced by gas lighting. As the factory to which it was delivered might be receiving shipments from various whaling fleets, the accepted practice was to mark or "brand" each barrel. This was done in the same fashion as cattle branding, with the notable exception that instead of a logo the identification mark was the whaling fleet's name. This most-impressive example (certainly meriting prime display in a prominent collection) comes from the internationally renowned Johnson Collection. It is of cast iron, 6 3/4" across, riveted to a cast iron shank or bar for a total length of 22". The name to be impressed was "A.W. Clark Jr.", a legendary Nantucket whaler. Though in excellent condition, it was certainly in active use and probably over a long period of years. Weighs 2 1/2 pounds. Ultimate whaling collectible. Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

- 104 Prized Whaling Print by One of The Most Renowned Artists. This opulently matted and framed print is a great treasure for the connoisseur of whaling-related art. The precise detailing and subtle hand coloring lend an almost three-dimensional quality. Titled "Greenland Whale", it portrays a fierce to-the-death struggle on the high seas between a party of arctic whalers and a colossal whale. The whale has been harpooned and is lashed to one of three boats maneuvering for the kill, but he rises from the depths and throws the boat completely over, spilling two of its occupants and leaving a third dangling precariously. In the background can be seen tall glaciers, hummocks, and the stately sail-driven whaling vessel. This was originally a plate fact that the hand coloring is absolutely unfaded and undisturbed. Dates to 1837. Engraved by Lizars, who worked on many great atlases and topographical books, after a design by Stewart. The exquisite matting is highlighted by a stunning mother-of-pearl-like double frame around the image. Image area 6" x 4", overall with frame 17" x 13 1/2". Frames is modern but in very pleasing antique style. Estimate $600 - 800

Political: U.S. Presidents and Related

105 Adams, John, (1735-1826) 2nd President of the United States, 1797-1801.

Free-franked Autograph Address Leaf Signed "J. Adams," 9.5" x 7.5" overall, panel size 4.75" x 3.5". Quincy, January 15, 1814. Addressed by Adams to: "Mrs Hannah Cushing / Scituate." To prevent a forger from writing anything above his signature, such as an I.O.U., Adams signed it directly beneath the addressee's name rather than in the lower left which was customary at the time. Manuscript postal markings at top edge of address panel: "Quincy Ms. Jany. 17th Free." Docketed in an unknown hand: "Mrs. A. Adams / January 15th 1814." Toned at lower edge of address panel and on rest of address leaf. Fine condition.

Hannah Cushing (1754-1834) was the widow of William Cushing (1732-1810) who served on the first Supreme Court from 1790-1810, Fine. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

106 Adams Family Letters. John and Abigail Adams' youngest son Thomas Boylston Adams (1772-1832) and his wife Ann Harrod Adams (1774-1846) had seven children: Abigail Smith Adams (1806-1845), Elizabeth Coombs Adams (1808-1903), Thomas Boylston Adams, Jr. (1809-1837), Frances Foster Adams (1811-1812), Isaac Hull Adams (1813-1900), John Quincy Adams (1815-1854), and Joseph Harrod Adams (1817-1853).

This collection comes directly from the wife of the great-great-great grandson of Edwin Bartlett's brother, Charles L. Bartlett; she was the great-great granddaughter of Union General William F. Bartlett.

THOMAS BOYLSTON ADAMS. ALS, no date but 1822-1824. Family letter to his teenage son Cadet Thomas B. Adams, Jr., at Norwich Academy, Vermont. Free frank signature of President John Adams has been cut off the address leaf, removing about 10-12 words of text on six lines. On address leaf, Elizabeth Coombs Adams has penciled:

"To Tom / about / Mrs Jarvis" and penned "for / Cary to / read." Tom was her brother, the letter's recipient. Cary was Caroline Harrod Bartlett, her first cousin.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS free frank on address leaf of family ALS "Hull" of his nephew ISAAC HULL ADAMS, Washington, March 25, 1844, to Caroline E. Barlett, Hull's first cousin. Asks her to send a named piece of opera music desired by his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Adams, "to Uncle Adams," his father's brother, Congressman John Quincy Adams. He adds, "There is little talked of here, except Texas, and there was a rumour that the treaty was to be sent to the Senate today..."

GEORGE B. McCLELLAN ALS, Orange, NJ, September 17, 1864. To Edwin Bartlett, husband of Thomas Boylston Adams' niece. On "McC" embossed stationery. Three weeks after becoming the Democratic nominee for President against Lincoln, McClellan thanks Bartlett for a letter, adding "regards to Mrs. Bartlett."

GIUSEPPE GARIBALDI. (1) Two complete ALS "G. Garibaldi" in Italian on one 8.25" x 10.5" page. Each dated Caprera, April 2, 1866. Can easily be separated at mid-horizontal fold. With original envelope addressed by Garibaldi to "General / W.F. Bartlett / Baring & Bros / London." Postmarked La Maddalena, April 3. (2) ALS "G. Garibaldi" in Italian to General W. F. Bartlett, Richmond, Virginia. Caprera, February 25, 1873. With original envelope postmarked La Maddalena, Feb 25 and New York March 17. Garibaldi lived on the island of Caprera, near the island of Maddalena, just off the northern coast of Sardinia., Very Fine.

Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

107 Buchanan, James, (1791-1868) 15th President of the United States, 1857-1861.

Free Frank signed, "Free / James Buchanan" and addressed in his hand, "William Welch Esq / Johnstown / Cambria County / Penna", one folded outer address leaf, 6.25" X 3.25", unfolding to 13" X 8.25", no date, no place. Small loss on the blank portion of the outer leaf from the sealing wax and light stains, overall very good condition. Most likely written before 1840, as Buchanan had franking privileges as a U.S. Representative between 1821 - 1831, and as U.S. Senator from 1834 - 1845. William Welch, according to the obituary written in The Mountaineer, Ebensburg, Pennsylvania, January 8, 1840, "...was the partner of Mr. Samuel Kennedy, in carrying on the Johnstown Foundry. He was esteemed and respected by all.", Very Fine. Estimate $500 - 750

108 Clinton, William, (1946-) 42nd President of the United States, 1993-2001.

Wonderful free frank in the middle of the envelope. The envelope is not addressed. Clinton was more than likely asked to sign this as a favor. It appears to have been hand-carried. In excellent condition., Extremely Fine.

Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

109 Coolidge, Calvin, (1872-1933) 30th President of the United States, 1923-1929.

White House envelope free franked "Calvin Coolidge" as President, 8.75" x 3.75", postmarked Washington, D.C., May 15 - 11 AM - 1928. Addressed by typewriter to "Mr. William T. Marshall / Hotel Willard / Washington, D.C." Engraved in the upper left "THE WHITE HOUSE / Official Business / Penalty for Private Use to Avoid / Payment of Postage $300." Light rippling, else fine condition. President Coolidge franked a "Penalty Envelope." These type envelopes were to be used by officers of the United States who did not have the franking privilege, for official business, with a fine imposed if used "for private use." In 1873, because of widespread abuse, Congress passed and President Ulysses S. Grant signed "An act to abolish the franking privilege." President Grant was the last U.S. President to have the right to free frank his presidential mail. In 1875, members of Congress were given the right to frank mail containing speeches, reports, and seeds. In 1891, they were allowed to send mail under their frank to any officer of the federal government. In 1895, the franking privilege was restored to Members of Congress for official mail, but not to the President. As President of the Senate, the Vice President could once again frank mail. Not until a President leaves office is the franking privilege bestowed upon the former Chief Executive for life. Leaving the White House after lunch, on the afternoon of May 15, 1928, President and Mrs. Coolidge were at the Old State House in Annapolis, Maryland, witnessing a reenactment of General George Washington's resignation of his command of the Continental Armies on the 150th anniversary of the event., Very Fine.

Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

110 Eisenhower, Dwight D. Composes and autographs his day by day account of the Allied Invasion of Europe (D-Day) and its aftermath. Far more valuable and historic than IKE'S later memoirs, as they were commercial products but this is a government publication, composed and issued very shortly after the war's conclusion. Full title is, "Report by the Supreme Commander to the combined Chiefs of Staff on the operations in Europe of the Allied Expeditionary Force 6 June 1944 to 8 May 1945". Very boldly signed by Eisenhower (the Supreme Commander) on titlepage in blue fountain pen. Book has 123 large pages (9" x 12"), nicely bound in 3/4 pebble-grain leather (spine and corners) over black cloth. Gilt lettering on spine. VF condition.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

111 Eisenhower, Dwight D., (1890-1969) 34th President of the United States, 1953-1961.

Free frank. The envelope is postmarked "Palm Springs Calif. Feb. 18 1954 6:30 PM" and is signed "Dwight D. Eisenhower" in blue ink in the upper left corner. The "free" is in pencil. The envelope is addressed to John H. Thompson of Torrington, California., Very Fine. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

112 Fillmore, Millard, (1800-1874) 13th President of the United States, 1850-1853.

The optimum ...visually and historically. MILLARD FILLMORE (1800-1874). Big bold signature on an 1851 PRESIDENTIAL PARDON, very handsomely matted and framed. Fillmore autographs as President are scarce because he served only a partial term, filling out Zachary Taylor's term upon the latter's passing but unsuccessful in his bid for reelection. IN TERMS OF PRESIDENTIAL PARDONS, THESE ARE VERY CLOSE TO UNOBTAINABLE, AND ARE ITEMS OF ENORMOUS PRESTIGE FOR EVEN THE FINEST COLLECTIONS. Partly printed, it reads "I hereby authorize and direct the Secretary of State to affix the Seal of the United States to the pardon granted to M. Braff ... dated this day, and signed by me: and for so doing this shall be his warrant. Washington, December 15, 1851. Millard Fillmore." Matted and framed in stunning display ensemble with LARGE engraved portrait and gilt-engraved biographical plaque. EACH ITEM RECESSED INTO A DARK GREEN FABRIC MAT OF DELUXE QUALITY, THE WINDOWS TRIMMED IN FRENCH EMPIRE STYLE METALLIC GILT FILIGREE (VERY POPULAR IN THE WHITE HOUSE AT THE MID 19th CENTURY!). Document is 8" x 10", overall size 26" x 24". BREATHTAKING!! Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

113 Ford, Gerald R. Wonderful free franked envelope with fantastic gold embossed eagle. The envelope comes with two letters of transmittal. Both letters are from Gloria Hill, Staff Assistant to the President addressed to Alvin Kantor. One letter dated May 30, 1978 tells Mr. Kantor to please find the enclosed envelope signed by the President. A later letter dated August 14, 1978 tells Mr. Kantor, the envelope was given to the post office to be postmarked., Very Fine.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

114 Ford, Gerald R., (1913-) 38th President of the United States, 1974-1977.

Free frank cover. Ford signs in ballpoint pen under a printed signature on a Congress of the United States envelope. Postmarked from Washington, Nov. 29, 1973., Very Fine.

Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

115 Grant, Ulysses S., (1822-1885) 18th President of the United States, 1869-1877.

Rare free frank. Envelope Franked "U.S. Grant" as President, 4" x 4.25". Addressed by him to "L.P. Luckey, Esq. / Secretary / Ex. Mansion / Washington / D.C." No postal markings. Noted by Grant at top "O.B." indicating the letter inside was from his Private Secretary Gen. Orville Babcock who frequently travelled with the President. Placed on a gilt plaque, double matted with a large engraved 1865 portrait of Grant. Framed to 21" x 30". The envelope has not been examined outside the frame, but after inspecting its visible edges, it appears to be the entire envelope. Fine condition.

Grant was the last U.S. President to have the franking privilege while in office. Because of abuses (such as sending other people's letters under a frank), the franking privilege was abolished by an Act of Congress effective after July 1, 1873. Since Col. Levi P. Luckey (1842-1884) was appointed Private Secretary to Pres. Grant on March 6, 1873, if this were a legal presidential frank, it must have been signed during those four months in 1873. There were instances, especially by postal officials outside Washington who knew or didn't know about the Act, to continue to let Grant franks pass through the mail postage-free. President Grant was inclined to pen the word "Free" above his signature on mail sent before July 1, 1873.

After the Civil War, Gen. Orville E. Babcock (1835-1884) served as Aide-de-Camp to General-in-Chief Grant until he was inaugurated President on March 4, 1869, when he was assigned to duty with the President as his Private Secretary. Babcock was indicted in December 1875 as a member of the Whiskey Ring, a scandal involving diversion of tax revenues, but was acquitted mainly because of Pres. Grant's testimony. Luckey's name came up in testimony, but he was not indicted. After the trials, Grant thought it better that he distance himself from both Babcock and Luckey; his son, U.S. Grant, Jr., assumed their duties as Private Secretary to the President. Gen. Babcock, Light-house Engineer, Col. Luckey, his Chief Clerk, and two others drowned on June 2, 1884, when the schooner "Pharos" sank off Mosquito Inlet, Florida, near where the government is building a lighthouse., Very Fine.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

116 Harding, Warren G., (1865-1923) 29th President of the United States, 1921-1923.

Rare free frank. Oversize imprinted envelope, 10.5" x 6.5", franked "W.G. Harding", as senator, in the upper right margin, no date but 1915-1921, addressed in another hand to Dr. Chas. E. Rice in Alliance, Ohio. Printed "United States Senate Public Document Free" in the upper left corner.

This is one of only two or three known free franked envelopes of Harding., Very Fine. Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

117 Harrison, Benjamin. Autograph on small piece, along with four stamps issued in his honor, Very Fine.

Estimate $100 - 150

118 Hoover, Herbert C., (1874-1964) 31st President of the United States, 1929-1933.

Free frank. White House envelope free franked "Herbert Hoover" as President, 6.5" x 3.5", postmarked Washington, D.C., November 30, 1928. Addressed to "Mr. N.C. Butler, / Prop., Bon Ton Café, / West Branch, Iowa." Hoover was born in West Branch, Iowa. Engraved in the upper left "THE WHITE HOUSE / Official Business / Penalty for Private Use to Avoid / Payment of Postage $300." Slit open at top edge, minor tear at upper right corner. Light soiling. Fine condition. Franked on the more desirable standard size envelope rather than the business size envelope. President Hoover franked a Penalty Envelope. These type envelopes were to be used by officers of the United States who did not have the franking privilege, for official business, with a fine imposed if used "for private use." In 1873, because of widespread abuse, Congress passed and President Ulysses S. Grant signed "An act to abolish the franking privilege." President Grant was the last U.S. President to have the right to free frank his presidential mail. In 1875, members of Congress were given the right to frank mail containing speeches, reports, and seeds. In 1891, they were allowed to send mail under their frank to any officer of the federal government. In 1895, the franking privilege was restored to Members of Congress for official mail, but not to the President. As President of the Senate, the Vice President could once again frank mail. Not until a President leaves office is the franking privilege bestowed upon the former Chief Executive for life., Very Fine. Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

119 Jackson, Andrew, (1767-1845), 7th President of the U.S., "Old Hickory".

Partly printed document, January 1, 1831. Authorization of purchase of 80 acres of U.S. government land in Jackson, Missouri (WHICH WAS NAMED FOR HIM). Signed by Jackson and by the Commissioner of the General Land Office. Embossed paper seal attached. THE JACKSON SIGNATURE IS IN FULL, ENORMOUS IN SIZE (6") AND A 10++ FOR CLARITY. Certainly as fine and displayable a Jackson signature as could ever be found. Document measures about 15" x 9 1/2". In an absolutely award-worthy matting and framing presentation, which would greatly enhance (if not actually overshadow) a collection of Presidential signatures. Included in the ensemble is a large engraved portrait and a very detailed biographical plaque engraved in gilt. Each item is deeply sunk into a cream colored silk mat with EACH WINDOW OF THE MAT TRIMMED IN HICKORY-LIKE WOOD (from which Jackson got his nickname). The frame itself matches this wood. Overall size about 34" x 25". By far the most compelling Jackson we have seen. Document has a few light foxing spots but overall condition F-VF. Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

120 Johnson, Andrew, (1808-1875) 17th President of the United States, 1865-1869.

Railway stock issued to President. Very colorful ornate certificate of the Virginia & Tennessee Rail Road Company, December 2, 1869, issued to Andrew Johnson and signed very boldly as company President by Confederate General William Mahone. Johnson, from Tennessee, was chosen to replace Hannibal Hamlin as Vice Presidential candidate for Lincoln's second term bid (1864), largely because he was one of few Southern statesmen who remained loyal. He became President following Lincoln's assassination (April 1865) and retained that office, withstanding an impeachment move, until March, 1869. Extra choice historical treasure! Comes with pair of portraits and detailed biographical data. Estimate $1,000 - 1,000

121 Kennedy Assassination: Lee Harvey Oswald cover to his mother. Cover franked with Russian stamps and addressed to Mrs. M. Oswald, Crowell TX, with Minsk registry.

Lee Harvey Oswald was born in New Orleans on 18th October, 1939. His father, Robert Oswald, died two months before his son was born. At the age of three his mother, Marguerite Oswald, sent him to live in the Bethlehem Children's Home. In 1959 Oswald left the Marines. Soon afterwards he travelled to Finland. After a short stay in Helsinki he acquired a six day tourist visa to enter the Soviet Union. Oswald went to Moscow and applied to become a Soviet citizen. In January, 1960, Oswald was sent to Minsk where he was given work as an assembler at a radio and television factory. While there he met Marina Prusakova, a nineteen year old pharmacy worker, and in April 1960 the couple got married. Oswald soon got disillusioned with life in the Soviet Union and in June, 1962, he was given permission to take his wife and baby daughter to the United States., Very Fine.

Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

122 Kennedy Assassination: The Tragic Christmas Card -- designed and printed before the assassination, mailed afterward. Official-White House Christmas card (oversize) from the Kennedys. "With our appreciation and best wishes for a happy Christmas, 1963 / John F. Kennedy / Jacqueline Kennedy." Printed signatures of both. The message is printed from Mrs. Kennedy's handwriting. View of the White House Green Room in full color (artist's rendering) with portrait of Benjamin Franklin on wall etc. Kennedy was assassinated on November 22 and these -- already prepared -- must have, gone out shortly thereafter. By far the most collected of all the White House Christmas Cards because of the circumstances. This is a superb condition FRAMED EXAMPLE, with back of the original mailing envelope (dark red textured paper with embossed Presidential seal in gilt) displayed on back of frame. About 16 1/2" x 13 1/2", overall with frame 18" x 15". Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

123 Kennedy Assassination: relic. Small piece of the blood-stained piece of leather from the limosine in which JFK was shot. With certificate of authenticity from University Archives. Matted with blue suede, includes photo of Kennedy in the limo on that fateful day., Very Fine. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

124 Lincoln, Abraham, (1809-1865) 16th President of the United States, 1861-1865. Magnificent Lincoln War-Dated Display! Partly Printed Document Signed "Abraham Lincoln" as President, one page, 14" x 18". Washington, August 13, 1861. Countersigned "Simon Cameron" as Secretary of War. Horizontal crease just beneath each signature, touching the lower edge of the "A" of "Abraham"; small hole beneath "L" of "Lincoln." Soiling in signature area. Mouse-eaten along horizontal center-fold affecting a few words. Recorded and signed "L. Thomas" by Adjutant General Lorenzo Thomas in upper left. Fine military vignettes at top center and across lower portion of document. Complete embossed green seal. Very good condition. Matted with a 10" x 16" print of a bust portrait of Lincoln by Jacques Reich (1852-1923) signed in dark pencil, "Jacques Reich." Displayed in an ornately decorated gilt frame, overall size, 35" x 28".

In part, "Know Ye, That reposing special trust and confidence in the patriotism, valor, fidelity, and abilities of John Christopher I have nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, do appoint him First Lieutenant in the Sixteenth Regiment of Infantry in the service of the United States: to rank as such from the Fourteenth day of May eighteen hundred and Sixty one..."

On August 2, 1861, the Senate recorded a message received from President Lincoln dated July 31, 1861, "by Mr. Nicolay, his secretary: To the Senate of the United States: I nominate the persons named in the accompanying list for appointment in the Army of the United States, as proposed by the Secretary of War." On July 31st, President Lincoln and Secretary of State William H. Seward visited the U.S. General Hospital in Georgetown. "The New York Times" reported "Their kind words and cordial manner cheered many a wounded and sick soldier."

Secretary of War Cameron had written Lincoln, in part, "Sir: I have the honor to propose for your approbation the following list of appointments in the eleven regiments added to the Regular Army of the United States by the act approved July 29, 1861 ... Sixteenth Regiment of Infantry ... John Christopher, of the Volunteers, to be first lieutenant, May 14, 1861; age 27; born in Pennsylvania..." On August 5, 1861, Christopher's nomination was approved by the Senate., Very Fine. Estimate $7,500 - 10,000

125 Lincoln, Abraham. Collection of original stereo slides, c. 1870s-80s Fantastic Lot of 14 Stereopticon Slides. Each 7" x 3¼" by Rogers, Soule, Keystone, etc., mostly 1870s and 1880s. Slides depict all facets of Lincoln's life, from earliest known photographic portrait to his funeral wreath. Slides also depict the funeral wreathes of Lincoln and Garfield. Many have printed, descriptive text. Several duplicates. In fine condition. Estimate $600 - 800

126 Lincoln, Abraham. Lincoln & wife's hair. This historic display features authentic hair strands of both Abraham Lincoln and Mary Todd Lincoln, each separately mounted beneath magnifying lenses. The strands were obtained from the personal collection of a friend of the Lincolns, Mrs. Caroline Wright, wife of then-Governor of Indiana, Joseph A. Wright, which remained in the Wright Family until 1992. In that year they came on the open market in a Christie's auction sale (full details provided with the item). In a dark green custom mat with portraits of the Lincolns and a display card. Overall 14" x 11". Certificate of authenticity included. Estimate $600 - 800

127 Lincoln, Abraham. Hair. Long before autograph collecting, hair strands or locks from famous persons were collected, enclosed in a frame or locket. this was a holdover from the medieval practice of encasing saints' relics in shrines for display and veneration. As the hobby continued into the 19th century it is possible, in some cases, to obtain hair fragments of our earlier Presidents, but Lincoln is very, very difficult. Specimens appear for sale infrequently and much of what is offered is of doubtful authenticity. Here are absolutely genuine Lincoln hair strands, with certificate of guarantee and complete provenance (history of ownership). Consists of nine strands, gathered in a group, matted beneath a magnifying viewer along with a portrait of Lincoln and descriptive card. These hair strands were given by the President to Mrs. Caroline Wright, wife of Governor Wright of Indiana, as a token of their friendship. Mrs. Wright was quite a devoted collector of hair samples from noted government figures. They passed down through several generations of the family until reaching the market in 1992. Estimate $500 - 750

128 Lincoln, Abraham. Lincoln's and Seward's Hair. Captivating and chilling display -- Original hair strands of Lincoln and Seward along with a portrait of the man who plotted their assassination. While acting as triggerman in the Lincoln assassination, John Wilkes Booth sent Louis Payne (also known as Powell) on the same night to do away with

Lincoln's Secretary of State, William Seward. Payne's attempt came in Seward's home, to which he gained entry by pretending to be messenger delivering a drugstore prescription. Seward's son, suspecting foul play, attempted to keep Payne out of his father's room. A struggle ensued, in which Payne struck the younger Seward with the butt of his pistol, putting it (and the younger Seward) out of action. Payne resorted to using a knife on the elder Seward and succeeded in inflicting a number of stab wounds but Seward -- already laid up from a carriage accident -- managed to survive. Here are beautifully mounted hair strands, absolutely authentic, of both Lincoln and Seward, displayed under magnifying lenses. Also included are portraits of both plus a likeness of John Wilkes Booth and a display card. Elegant wine red mat. Overall 14" x 11". With certificate of authenticity. Estimate $500 - 750

129 Lincoln-Johnson Union Presidential Ticket for November 8, 1864 Election. Portraits of both men also neatly matted in frame. Great condition. Estimate $500 - 750

130 Lincoln/Douglass Cartoon. Full page cartoon from "Vanity Fair", October 27, 1860. A Stephens cartoon showing Lincoln vaulting over a stool to attack Frederick Douglass while Mrs. Douglass, taking her husband's arm, attempts to intervene. Titled "Sich a Gittin Up Stairs:" and accompanied by a poem in quite offensive stereotypical black language. Filing holes in blank margin. Estimate $150 - 200

131 Lincoln cartoon, full-page cartoon from "Punch", November 19, 1864. Entitled "The Black Draft". Lincoln, wearing grim determined look, levels revolver at head of black soldier who holds cup reading "Conscript (t)". Another black conscript is about to be whipped by Lincoln's companion, a cavalryman with spurs and long sword. Lincoln and the war were favorite "Punch" topics. There was little doubt that they sympathized with the Confederacy. About 8 1/4" x 10 1/2". Estimate $150 - 200

- 132 Lincoln Assassination: unique photographs of John Wilkes Booth. Lot of 8 items, includes: Unique, historically priceless and almost certainly unpublished 2 1/2" x 4" photographs of John Wilkes Booth. Series of 7 photographs, in all of which Booth appears with two other persons (the same two in all the photographs). As the poses in each are only slightly different, the suggestion is put forward, in a letter of documentation dated April 14, 1939 (included) that the objective was to produce a sort of "motion picture", by attaching the pictures together and then flipping them to create the illusion of motion. This very process was soon thereafter in use and became a great favorite at two-cent "viewing booths" in amusement parks, carnivals, etc. The letter of documentation is on stationery of the "Lincoln Fellowship of Southern California" and is signed by H.E. Varker, who explains in great detail how the photos originated and "now, after the lapse of nearly eighty years, they are brought to light". The photos are affixed to separate sheets of paper that measure about 4 1/2" x 2 1/2", with an image area of 3 1/4" x 2". In overall good condition, some paper buckling. Estimate $3,500 - 5,000

- 133 Lincoln Assassination: a gorgeous display trio of extremely historic items that would be very difficult to duplicate. Handsomely matted specimens of: (1) Strands of Lincoln's hair (2) Small fragment from the bedsheet on bed where Lincoln died (3) Strands of William Seward's hair. The hair strands were originally obtained by Mrs. Caroline Wright, wife of Indiana Governor Joseph Wright and a personal friend of the Lincoln family. The bedsheet fragment originated in the personal effects of Charles K. Tuckerman, first American Minister to Greece, who wrote a letter of provenance in his own hand. All three are mounted beneath magnifying lenses along with an illustration of the Lincoln deathbed scene and display card. Certificate of authenticity included. William Seward, Lincoln's Secretary of State, was included in Booth's assassination plot but he managed to survive a knife attack. Overall 14" x 11".

134 Lincoln Assassination: original, rare newspaper account of the execution of those convicted. Complete front page of the DETROIT TRIBUNE, Morning Edition, July 10, 1865. FOUR VERY LENGTHY COLUMNS WITH EYE-WITNESS ACCOUNTS OF THE EXECUTION OF PAYNE, MRS. SURRATT, HEROLD AND ADZERODT (here spelled Atzerot). Quite gruesome but (obviously) of vast historical significance. Booth was not among them as he had been slain while resisting arrest. Herold accompanied him on his flight out of Washington following the assassination. Payne was assigned to kill Secretary of state Seward and stabbed him several times, but Seward managed to recover. Adzerodt was supposed to assassinate Vice President Andrew Johnson but got cold feet. Mrs. Surratt was implicated because the conspirators used her boarding house as a meeting place. A number of other conspirators received prison sentences. Mrs. Surratt's son, John, one of the prime conspirators, was acquitted and received no jail time. He later became a wealthy man giving lectures entitled "How I Plotted to Kill Lincoln". This very detailed account became the source for historians for over 100 years. NOTHING IS LACKING, as the reports appear on the front page only and are not continued inside. A must for the Lincoln collector! Huge size measuring 22" x 28", minor marginal tears and nicks which in no way affect the textual matter. Shrink wrapped on stiff white board. Estimate $500 - 750

135 Lincoln Assassination: as first reported to a shocked public. 1865 April 15, 1865 Newspaper Coverage on Assassination. Pennsylvania Daily Telegraph, Saturday evening, April 15, 1865 with extensive coverage of Lincoln's assassination, which had occurred less than 24 hours before. Because of short time frame and lack of opportunity to substantiate reports, some mistakes contained, including "the murdered of Mr. Lincoln has been arrested. He turns out be a stage actor -- John Wilkes Booth". In fact, Booth was not tracked down until more than a week later. Also gives the hour by hour medical bulletins on Lincoln leading up to his death and publishes the $10,000 reward notice. (later raised to $25,000). Black mourning borders on all columns. In good condition. Estimate $500 - 750

136 Roosevelt, Franklin D., (1882-1945) 32nd President of the United States, 1933-1945.

Rare free frank. White House envelope free franked "Franklin D. Roosevelt" as President, 6.5" x 3.5", postmarked Washington, D.C., May 20, 1935. Addressed by typewriter to "Edward Stern, Esq., 87 Nassau Street, New York, N.Y." Engraved in the upper left "THE WHITE HOUSE/Official Business" and in the upper right "Penalty for Private Use to Avoid/Payment of Postage, $300." Neatly slit open at bottom edge. Fine condition. Franked on the more desirable standard size envelope rather than the business size envelope, it is depicted in the definitive book on free franks authored by renowned philatelist Edward Stern, "History of the 'Free Franking' of Mail in the United States," New York: H.L. Lindquist, 1936. President Roosevelt franked a Penalty Envelope for Edward Stern. These type envelopes were to be used by officers of the United States who did not have the franking privilege, for official business, with a fine imposed if used "for private use." In 1873, because of widespread abuse, Congress passed and President Ulysses S. Grant signed "An act to abolish the franking privilege." President Grant was the last U.S. President to have the right to free frank his presidential mail. In 1875, members of Congress were given the right to frank mail containing speeches, reports, and seeds. In 1891, they were allowed to send mail under their frank to any officer of the federal government. In 1895, the franking privilege was restored to Members of Congress for official mail, but not to the President. As President of the Senate, the Vice President could once again frank mail. Not until a President leaves office is the franking privilege bestowed upon the former Chief Executive for life. Because he never served in Congress and did not survive the presidency, Franklin D. Roosevelt never had the franking privilege which makes this envelope, franked as President, of utmost rarity and desirability. In "Collecting Autographs and Manuscripts," autograph pioneer Charles Hamilton relates a story told to him by noted collector Alden S. Condict of "the day I tried to persuade the President of the United States to break the law...I had done several favors for Franklin D. Roosevelt, but I had never asked anything in return...After he was elected President, there was one thing that I did want from him and wanted desperately...What I hoped to get from Roosevelt was a bona-fide Presidential frank...During one of my visits to Hyde Park [in 1940] I dropped in on him. We chatted for a while, and then, with a thumping heart, I sprang the big question, 'I wonder, Mr. President, if you would Mindelheim & Kirchheim letting me have your signature in the upper right corner of a White House envelope?' I put the question casually, as though it weren't important, but Roosevelt was an autograph and stamp collector, and he knew instantly that I was asking for a 'frank.' His genial manner left him abruptly, and his face became hard. His eyes flashed, and he said icily, 'You're asking me to break the law.' If only I could have dropped through the floor!...I was sure I had bungled the matter hopelessly...Weeks passed. Then, about two months later, I received through the mail a large stamped White House envelope. Afire with eagerness, I opened it up, and inside I found two magnificent White House envelopes, each boldly franked by the President...each bearing a very clear Washington, D.C. postmark...Not long afterward, when I needed money badly, I was offered ten thousand dollars [for one envelope]...You see, the Republicans wanted it for propaganda. They wanted to prove that Franklin D. Roosevelt had no respect for the laws of this country, and even franked his mail when he had no legal right. Of course, I refused the offer. I couldn't violate the President's confidence..." Hamilton concludes, "I was delighted when this rare frank passed into my possession.", Very Fine. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

137 Roosevelt, Franklin D. Rare unofficial free frank. Envelope, 5 1/4" x 3 1/4", signed "Franklin D. Roosevelt", as President, vertically in the left margin, postmarked at Washington, DC on March 23, 1937, addressed to Dorothy Starkey in Berlin, Wisconsin. Flap missing on the verso, otherwise very fine. FDR did not have the franking privilege and signed only a small number of souvenir "franks" for collectors., Very Fine. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

138 Roosevelt, Franklin D. Personal cigarette holder... framed in all archival materials with other FDR collectibles. Certainly one of a kind. FDR's black-tipped, silver cigarette holder was his most famous Germany - World War II Propaganda Issues. It appears in the vast majority of published press photos taken of him while President. And it served a far more significant purpose than allowing the Chief Executive his dose of nicotine. He used it to make his grand hand gestures even grander, to point, sometimes even to intimate, as when he bit with all the force of a four-term President, sending the holder up vertically until the cigarette nearly caressed his forehead. In a gilt shadow-box frame along with Anna Eleanor Roosevelt's monogrammed ash-tray (small and dainty and probably used mostly by FDR), TLS of Mrs. Roosevelt, 1958, thanking a friend for the "lovely tulips", freefranked envelope in which the tulips letter was mailed (the freefrank is stamped, but the letter has a real signature), and an 8x10" photo of Mrs. Roosevelt reading her mail. All of this material came from the sale of the contents of Mrs. Roosevelt's New York City apartment (211 East 62nd Street) and the authenticity is beyond doubt. Frame measures 17 1/2" x 18 1/2".

Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 139 Roosevelt, Franklin D. Bold & attractive autograph on FDC franked with block of 4 Sullivan Expedition issue (657), tied by Horseheads, N.Y. 6/7/29 machine cancel.

Estimate $300 - 400

- 140 Taft, William Howard, (1857-1930) 27th President of the United States, 1909-1913.

Rare free frank. White House envelope free franked "William H. Taft" as President, 6.5" x 3.5", postmarked Washington, D.C., May 15. No year. Addressed by hand (not by Taft) to "Edward Stern, / 87 Nassau St., / New York City." Engraved in the upper left "THE WHITE HOUSE / Official Business / Penalty for Private Use to Avoid / Payment of Postage $300." Fine condition. Franked on the more desirable standard size envelope rather than the business size envelope, it is depicted in the definitive book on free franks authored by renowned philatelist Edward Stern, "History of the 'Free Franking' of Mail in the United States," New York: H.L. Lindquist, 1936. President Taft franked this Penalty Envelope for Edward Stern. These type envelopes were to be used by officers of the United States who did not have the franking privilege, for official business, with a fine imposed if used "for private use." Very Fine. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

- 141 Taft, William H. Four autographs of President on distillery warehouse stamps. William Howard Taft, Republican who succeeded Teddy Roosevelt in 1908 when the latter decided not to seek a third term (there were no term limits), served in a number of judicial positions in his native Ohio before reaching national prominence. Sheet of four large U.S. distillery warehouse stamps, series of 1878. These were official Internal Revenue issues for affixing to casks of alcoholic beverages to show that the tax had been paid. From 1882 to 1887 the young Taft (he was 25 in 1882) served as collector of Internal Revenue for Ohio and personally signed the distillery stamps used during that time period. This sheet of four, printed in green, has portraits of Zachary Taylor and serial numbers etc. along with the Taft signatures. Sheet measures 7 1/2" x 12 1/2". Of course the stamps were intended to be separated and used one per cask. It is most remarkable to find four examples of a future (or current, or former) President's signature on the same sheet. Would frame gloriously. Portrait and very lengthy biography included. Estimate $750 - 1,000

142 Truman, Harry S., (1884-1972) 33rd President of the United States, 1945-1953.

Rare free frank. The envelope is torn at the right, affecting very little. The free frank is written on a "Treasury Department Office of Collector of Internal Revenue Wichita, Kans. Official Business" envelope, and the cancellation reads "Reunion 35th Division Wichita Kansas Sept. 25-27, 1922"., Very Fine. Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

143 Tyler, John, (1790-1862) 10th President of the United States, 1841-1845.

Free frank on an envelope addressed to Miss Rebecca Jones Dr. Geo. W. Jones Richmond Virginian." The letter inside is 4 pages written from New Kent City, VA - Sherwood Forest on April 9, 1861. The letter reads in part, "My dear friend, I have been thinking of you much since I got here. I have been here five weeks today and expected to head home on Friday or Saturday last. This continued rain has really worried me. Of course what God sends is all right, but there seems to be no prospect at present for fair weather, and three of he children here have measles and two of the colored people, so that I am daily dreading Martha's breaking out with it, before I can get away. Just as soon as it clears I expect to leave for home so that if you have not already written, you must write me at once when to expect you. How is Mrs Jones health. I give my love to her, with best wishes for her health. That is going on more now in Richmond. Though legislature has adjourned, and it is thought the convention will soon; and what will Virginian do? I wonder! We are in a terrible fix I think. One thing that has caused me to think of you, in a few days past is that I have been reading a work on Spiritualism. Don't you remember my alarm at your communications. Certainly there are wonderful things told - wonderful revelations made, but I am skeptical. ", Very Fine. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

144 Washington, George, (1732-1799) 1st President of the United States, 1789-1797.

Framed display. Free-franked Autograph Address Leaf Signed "G: Washington" beneath Autograph Note, one page, 8.5" x 7". [Mount Vernon], February 11, 1798. Addressed by Washington to "Mr. Robert Lewis / in / Fauquier Cty." Above his strong signature, Washington has penned: "Recommended / to the care of / Jno. Lewis Esq / Fredericksbg." Seal tear at lower center edge, some breaks at upper vertical folds not near any of Washington's writing. Manuscript postal markings "Alex 12 Feby Free" and docket, probably by Lewis, "From / Genl Washington / 11 Feby 1798." Light soiling, Fine condition. Attractively double matted with a bust engraving from a circa 1789 Gilbert Stuart portrait and a metallic plaque. Overall size, 26" x 22".

Many of the letters between George Washington and his nephew, Robert Lewis, concerned the collection of rents due Washington on his western land. Following is the letter Gen. Washington wrote to his nephew and was once attached to this free franked address leaf. It is published in "The Writings of George Washington from the Original Manuscript Sources 1745-1799," edited by John C. Fitzpatrick. "My land above Bath" mentioned in this letter refers to the town of Bath, now in West Virginia's eastern panhandle; it appeared on colonial maps as Medicinal Springs. The town was formed around the springs in 1776; the charter specifically stated its purpose as caring for health seekers. In 1777, Gen. Washington was among those land speculators who bought lots, in effect making Bath the country's first spa.

George Washington's letter to his nephew, Robert Lewis. In full, "Mount Vernon, February 11, 1798. Dear Sir: Your letter of the 31st Ult. came safe to hand, and the Deed therein enclosed, shall be executed in the manner, and in time, to obtain a certificate from the Clerk of this County at the Court next to be held for it, on the 19th. instant, and transmitted to you. Enclosed is a letter for Sally Haynie, left open for your perusal before it is forwarded to her; with the contents of which, respecting the payment of ten pounds, I request you to comply; and charge the same to the A/c of your collection of my Rents.

With regard to my Land above Bath, I am really at a loss what direction to give concerning it. To have the valuable Walnut trees, with which it abounds, taken off, by a parcel of lawless intruders, is extremely disagreeable (if they can not be punished) on the one hand, and for the sake of obtaining a better Rent, to engage to take them off myself, within a given period, and that perhaps a short one, would be attended with great inconvenience, perhaps expence and loss, on the other. For unless I could get them to this place the cost of felling, preparing them for transportation, and attending them down the River would be a dead charge, and without the latter was done, that is to attend the logs down, I should not get one of them; of course all that preceeded would be lost. I see but two modes by which I can be benefitted by these Logs; one to let some person occupy the land without paying Rent, for the sole consideration of taking care of them. The other, if a good rent could be obtained, to oblige the Tenant to deliver them to me, noting the quantity of the trees, at a certain price, to be allowed out of the Rent. A third method indeed occurs, but it is one by which I should, apparently, get little for them, namely, to sell them on the spot: and yet, ultimately, if they would sell there for near their value, it might be the most productive mode of the three.

Under this dilemma, make the best investigation of the subject you can, and act as shall seem most conducive to my interest. I am not inclined to give a lease for more than Seven years, and if the tenant is permitted to kill the Walnuts by girdling the trees, I do not believe that the Crops would sustain much injury by their standing. They would season in this manner, and a few years hence, when the Navigation of the River is in a more improved state might be brought down with more ease and safety. Perhaps, upon the whole, this may be found the most eligible Plan. We are all tolerably well at this time and unite in offering our best wishes for you, Mrs. Lewis and the family. With sincere friendship, and Affectionate regard.", Very Fine.

Estimate $10,000 - 15,000

145 Washington, George. Three lines written in hand of George Washington on a 9 x 1.25 slip clipped from a land grant. Washington writes: "--ties of the Greenbriar & Randolph to the line which divides the counties of Randolph & Batch, thence with the said last mentioned line to the line which divides". In very fine condition, with a well-done professional repair to a small area of paper loss along top edge, affecting no text. Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

146 Five Presidents sign a book about the house they lived in. "REPORT OF THE COMMISSION ON THE RENOVATION OF THE EXECUTIVE MANSION. Compiled under Direction of the Commission by Edwin Bateman Morris. Washington, D.C.: U.S. Government Printing Office, 1952." 109 pages, profusely illustrated with photos and architectural plans. Bound in pebble-grain leatherlike cloth with gilt lettering on front cover and spine. From the library of Richard T. Moore, who treasured this book AND SPENT MORE THAN 30 YEARS COLLECTING PRESIDENTIAL SIGNATURES IN IT. The signatures are ALL ON THE FRONT FLYLEAF and comprise those of Truman, Nixon, John F. Kennedy, Johnson, Ford and Carter. The Nixon is believed to be secretarial but the remaining five are unquestionably genuine. Truman, in 1955, went so far as to add his observation on the book: "This was quite a job -- but it should be good for several generations unless someone plows it up!" Also signed by Richard E. Dougherty, a member of the Commission. ACCOMPANIED BY A FILE OF LETTERS from the Presidents' secretaries regarding signing the book. There are also letters from the secretaries of Hoover and Eisenhower, declining to sign as they do not give autographs. VERY POSSIBLY the most Presidential signatures in one book -- and all on the same page! Spine slightly scuffed as would be expected, as this book certainly racked up the mileage. Estimate $10,000 - 15,000

Political: Other U.S. Politicians and Statesmen

147 Chase, Samuel. Free Frank. Address leaf stamped "BALT SEP 25" and "FREE," 10.75" x 8.5". Addressed by Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Samuel Chase to Secretary of War James McHenry who has docketed it in the panel above. On laid paper professionally strengthened on verso. Fine condition.

On September 26, 1796, Supreme Court Justice Samuel Chase wrote to Washington's Secretary of War. As Secretary of War, McHenry had the franking privilege in two directions- sending and receiving. In this case, Chase, as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court without the franking privilege, took advantage of free postage by using McHenry's free franking privilege. McHenry docketed the address leaf "24 Sepr 1796 / Saml Chase."

A perfect substitute for a Samuel Chase free frank which is extremely rare., Very Fine. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

148 Clay, Henry. Free Frank. Autograph integral address leaf franked "H. Clay," 1 page, 5" X 3.25" panel on 10" X 8" sheet, Washington, DC Addressed to Willis Hall Esq., Albany, New York, postmarked July 18, 1841. "Free" also stamped on front panel in blank area. Clay's writing and signature are dark and clear. Fine condition.

From Kentucky Senator Henry Clay, the address leaf is written to Willis Hall Esq., the New York State Attorney General at the time. His address is written, in full, "Willis Hall Esq. / &c &c &c / Albany / N. York". The leaf also includes the docket on verso, probably in Hall's hand, recording "Henry Clay / Washington / July 1841". Clay's opened wax stamp is on verso., Very Fine. Estimate $400 - 600

149 Clay, Henry. On small piece (taped to backing, aged tape does not affect or come close to autographs) which is dated March 26th, 1829, Philadelphia, also includes four stamps that were issued in his honor, including #151 (cat val $245), F.-V.F. Estimate $100 - 150

150 Hancock, John. Whale Oil Bill Of Lading. Partly Printed Document Signed "John Hancock" (twice) and "Alex Smith" as Master of the brig "St John," one page, 9" x 4.5". Boston, November 1, 1766. Completed in manuscript by John Hancock. Fine condition. Ornate pictorial "S" printed at beginning of first word. In full, "Shipped by the Grace of God, in good Order and well Condition'd, by John Hancock in and upon the good Brig called the St John whereof is Master, under God, for this present Voyage, Alexander Smith and now riding at Anchor in the Harbour of Boston and by God's Grace bound for London to say, Five Hundred & Sixty Casks of Oyle & Ninety Eight Bundles of Whale Fins & Inv. in equal halves with Messrs Harrison & Barnard & John Hancock being mark'd and number'd as in the Margin, and are to be deliver'd in the like good Order, and well Condition'd, at the aforesaid Port of London (the Danger of the Seas only excepted) unto Messrs. Harrison & Barnard or to their Assigns, he or they paying Freight for the said Goods Forty five shillgs Startg pr Ton for Oyle, & Forty shillings pr Ton for Bone with Primage and Average accustom'd. In witness whereof the Master or Purser of the said Brig hath affirm'd to Two Bills of Lading, all of this Tenor and Date; the one of which Two Bills being accomplish'd, the other One to stand void. And to God send the good Brig to her desir'd Port in Safety. Amen. Dated in Boston Novemr 1st: 1766" Signed "Alex Smith." The 560 casks of oil are broken down by Hancock in the left margin: "137 Cask White Oyl... / 304 Cask Whale Oyl... / 45 Cask Brown Oyl... / 74 Cask Head..." Upon his graduation from Harvard in 1754, John Hancock entered his uncle Thomas's business as a clerk. Beginning on January 1, 1763, Thomas Hancock sent business letters to his customers notifying them that he had "taken my Nephew Mr. John Hancock, into Partnership with me, having had long Experience of his Uprightness, & great Abilities for Business..." He added that future correspondence should be to "Thomas Hancock & Company." Thomas Hancock, perhaps the wealthiest merchant in New England, died on August 1, 1764. Having no children, his entire estate went to his nephew, John Hancock. Harrison and Barnard were Hancock's London agents. In 1765, John Hancock decided to expand his company's whale oil trade. Whale oil had covered more than half his uncle's payments to English exporters in the 1730s. On January 22, 1766, concerned about dropping prices, Hancock wrote his agents London, "I wish you would give me the earliest notice in the Spring how you think the Price of oyl & Bone will Govern next Summer as also Pott Ashes, & which Sort of Oyl You would advise to be largest Concern'd in, as I am determined the Coming Year (please God I live) to be more largely Concern'd in oyl, Bone & Pottash than ever..." On June 6, 1766, he had written Harrison and Barnard, in part, "Oyl is not yet at markt, but you may depend I shall use the greatest Dispatch in Loading her. I am not able to say anything as to the price of Oyl at present, but fear it will be rather high, but what I purchase shall be on the best Terms & shall endeavour that the price be as low as possible. I duly note what you say of whale Bone & shall be mindful to purchase what I can that is good & shall advise you as I go on." But as prices dropped, Hancock took a substantial loss. In addition, he developed an increasingly bitter relationship with his London agents. On November 10, 1766, nine days after he filled out this Bill of Lading, Hancock wrote Harrison and Barnard and complained of a charge for interest on his unsettled account with them. He mentioned that he has two thousand barrels of oil to ship and let them know that other business firms are soliciting his patronage. In the summer of 1767, his London agents, who've had difficulty selling his whale oil because of, according to them, its quality, suggested that someone from London be sent to Boston to inspect the oil before it's shipped. On September 2, 1767, an angry Hancock replied, "When I am in want of a Guardian our laws will appoint one. Really I know not what you think. I am a Judge for myself, & if you do not think me a Judge for you, I pray you would not employ me, for I will never submit to have a man sent over to inspect my business, to make me the ridicule of the merchts., neither do I Choose that the Oyle I send home should be put into the hands of those Gent." On October 16, 1767, he wrote George Haley in London, in part, "My late uncle Thomas Hancock for many years dealt with the house of Kilby & Barnard, & I in partnership with him, after my return from London dealt with the House of Barnard & Harrison, & by myself since the deace of my late uncle, till now have dealt with the same house, to a very large extent. But by Capt. Daverson, who arrived yesterday, I Received letters from them which have given me much disgust & I have come to a Resolution to alter my connections... In Confidence - Sir, that such a connection would be agreeable to you, I now address you tendering you the conducting of all my affairs that lay in your way, at same time acquainting you that I expect to be on a footing even with the very best of your correspondents, & as I am largely concerned in navigation you will have Spring & Fall from me, many consignments. I have now large parcels of Oyle, whale fins & Potashes to ship..." In 1767, Haley replaced Harrison and Barnard as Hancock's London agent., Very Fine. Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

- 151 Henry, James Buchanan. Free Frank. Roughly opened. Addressed to William S. Cooke of Northumberland, Penn.

James Buchanan Henry (1883-1915) was a lawyer, writer, secretary to the President, nephew and ward of James Buchanan. He was the first man to officially hold this office being paid by the Government. He held this position for two years. Prior to this, each President paid the wages for private secretaries out of their own pocket., Fine.

Estimate $200 - 300

- 152 King Jr., Dr. Martin Luther. Agreement for using the famous "I have a dream" speech in a book. One page contract, University of Michigan, College of Communication Arts, Department of Speech, July 10, 1967. Assistant Professor James C. McCroskey asks permission of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. to use his "I Have a Dream" speech in a forthcoming book on public speaking.

Signed permission is granted via signature "Martin L. King, Jr." penned by his wife, Coretta Scott King. All materials relating to this epochal speech and its various publications have been so heavily sought that almost nothing remains on the market. Excellent condition.

Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

153 Mann, Horace, (May 4, 1796 – August 2, 1859), an American education reformer, and a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives from 1827 to 1833. He served in the Massachusetts Senate from 1834 to 1837. In 1848, after serving as Secretary of the Massachusetts State Board of Education since its creation, he was elected to the US House of Representatives. Mann was a brother-in-law to author Nathaniel Hawthorne. Free Frank. Arguing that universal public education was the best way to turn the nation's unruly children into disciplined, judicious republican citizens, Mann won widespread approval from modernizers, especially in his Whig Party, for building public schools. Indeed, most states adopted one version or another of the system he established in Massachusetts, especially the program for "normal schools" to train professional teachers[1]. Mann has been credited by many educational historians as the "Father of the Common School Movement"., Very Fine. Estimate $200 - 300

156 Varick, Richard, (1753-1831) rose to early prominence as a Revolutionary War hero. After serving as aide to General Schuyler he attained the rank of lieutenant colonel. He saw considerable battlefield action and attracted the attention of George Washington, who made him Recording Secretary of the war. After 1783 he became Recorder of New York, later attaining considerable status in that city's government. From 1791 to 1801 he was Mayor of New York City. Varick died a very wealthy man and highly respected, leading citizen. Varick Street in lower Manhattan (long a hub of printing and publishing) was named for him. Partly printed folio size, March 4, 1790. Applicant is "Eneas MacKay of the Out Ward," for license "to keep an Inn or Tavern for retailing strong or spirituous Liquors in his Dwelling-House ..." He is prohibited from keeping "a disorderly Inn or Tavern", or permitting "any Cockfighting, Gaming, or Playing with Cards or Dice, or keep any Billiard -Table, or other Gaming-Table, or Shuffle-Board." Penalty for violation was fifty pounds "lawful Money of the said State." HUGE SIGNATURE WITH VARICK'S CUSTOMARY TWIN FLOURISHES BENEATH. Folds professionally strengthened on reverse, condition F-VF.

154 Seward, William H. Autograph on small piece affixed to backing, minor crease not affecting autograph, includes #370 Block and single mint and single franking cover, F.-V.F. Estimate $100 - 150

155 Sumner, Charles. Autograph on Boston 2 Cent Drop Rate. Almost complete red CDS on FLS with matching "2" rate, document is state of Provident Institute for Savings signed by Charles Sumner as Justice of the Peace, Very Fine cover. Estimate $150 - 200

All documents etc. signed by Varick have been avidly sought since autograph collecting's advent; even his signature on a slip or scrap of paper is prized. THIS ONE, HOWEVER, IS EXTRA SPECIAL: SIGNED AS MAYOR, GRANTING A SALOON KEEPING LICENSE.

Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

157 Varick, Richard. Signed Order. Single tall folio page (12½" x 8"), one side only, entirely handwritten. "New York, Quits (quitclaims), be it remembered that on this fourteenth day of April in the year of Our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety four; before me Richard Varick, Major of the City of New York, personally came and appeared John York of the same city, baker, and acknowledged himself to be indebted to the people of the State of New York, in the sum of Twenty Pounds current money of the State of New York..." Fines such as this were normally levied for infractions against the terms of a business license, but it was rare for a license to be revoked unless the transgression was extremely severe (for obvious reasons: if the business continued in operation, more fines could be collected). Written in a very legible clerical hand with large signature of Varick, a major Revolutionary War Figure and George Washington's official record keeper while the war was in progress. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

Political: Non-U.S. Statesmen

158 Castro, Fidel, Cuban revolutionary who overthrew the Batista dictatorship in 1959. A Marxist, Castro nationalized industry, confiscated foreign property, and established close ties to the Soviet Union. ALS. The document is written in Spanish, and is written to Hubert Matos, another commander of the Revolution. Castro is sending a check for 100,000 pesos. The money can only be invested in the cultivation of the farms for an agricultural cooperative that Castro created. Castro asks that Matos get an accountant that will keep good records of the expenses, and that he wants 4% interest on the money when it is idle. Castro also instructs Mastro to pay attention to the soybean because very soon the new crop will be ready, and pay a lot of attention to the cotton as well, they have big plans for that as well. This was one of Castro's big failed projects, as he wanted to get oil out of the soybean, because of the U. S. embargo on oil, and cotton for clothing. The check is written in Spanish on the National Institute of Agrarian Reform account. The payee is the Department of Production (Poultry section) in the amount of $100,000 but is not signed by Castro. Instead, at the bottom, he writes: "Stop eating so much shit and explain if you are going to produce chicken in cooperatives". The description of expenses are for the "Construction of sheds for reproductive hens in the Cooperatives: 'Menelao Mora' Farm 'Raul Vicente...Fca. San Vicente...to lay eggs of consumption 'Las Mananitas'." A full translation accompanies this item., Very Fine. Estimate $6,000 - 8,000

Scientists, Inventors and Engineers

- 159 Edison, Thomas. Signed certificate for his "Edison Phonograph Works". Superbly preserved example of one of the most historically significant financial/industrial collector items. Edison Phonograph Works certificate for five shares at $100 each, July 15, 1890, signed by Edison as Company President. Also signed by Samuel Insull (1859-1938), at that time Treasurer of the company, later President of Chicago Edison Co. and (still later) world renowned public utilities magnate. Comes with sepia tone portrait of a young Edison and biographical information on both him and Insull. Ranks alongside Alexander Graham Bell on Bell Telephone Co. and Henry Ford on Ford Motor Co. certificates as a true museum piece. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

- 160 Edison, Thomas. Twice-signed stock certificate. For the specialist who collects Edison documents that have intimate connection with Edison's life, this is the ultimate piece. Stock certificate issued to him and by him, for 27 shares of the New Jersey Patent Company. Dated June 12, 1906. Signed on the Front by Edison as President and on the back as purchaser. This was his own company for securing patents on his inventions. It patented more than one thousand of them! This approach to eliminating the middleman was actually used quite often by history's sharper minds: W.C. Handy and Irving Berlin (among others) established their own music publishing companies to publish the songs they composed. Would surely be the crown jewel of an Edison Collection. Comes with portraits, etc. Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

- 161 Edison, Thomas. Not only a signature but a document that speaks volumes about him. Thomas A. Edison (1847-1931), the prince of inventors, was a prime favorite of autograph collectors from the 19th century. His signature on letters, cards, stock certificates or even bitsy scraps of paper has always been sought. The item here offered is of a type that even the most advanced Edisonian probably does not possess. Single sheet of typewritten paper, "Minutes of the Annual Meeting of the Board of Directors of Edison Manufacturing Company," dated June 9, 1926, containing brief summary of proceedings followed by signatures of Thomas Edison, Charles Edison and three other company officers plus secretary. It is quite extraordinary that Edison would continue to personally attend these meetings at age 79. For anyone who may doubt that he actually did, here is the proof! Comes with large oval-shaped photographic portrait of Edison listening to his "improved wax cylinder phonograph" in 1888. Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 162 Edison, Thomas. Signed three times. The Edison Portland Cement Company. Thomas Edison sells himself a hundred shares of stock from one of his numerous companies. A gorgeous certificate bearing his portrait and three of his highly prized signatures, dated August 19, 1899. This exceptional certificate features fine decorative engraving by the American Bank Note company in handsome magenta tones. At the upper center is a black and white full-face portrait of Edison. Signed three times by Edison, twice on the back and once on the attachment. All are the full "umbrella" signatures, in very large size, for which he is well known among historians and autograph enthusiasts. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

163 Einstein, Albert. Exceptional letter. Einstein was already famous in Europe at the time of this letter (1924) though not as well known in America. His theory of relativity was almost 20 years old, having been, formulated in 1905, and had drawn the attention of many of the world's great minds (including Bertrand Russell, who painstakingly put it in language that non-brilliant people could understand). Still, he lacked personalized stationery, but to judge from this piece of work wasn't a bad typist.

A little toning at the top and some small, light foxing spots, but overall VG/F for its almost 90 years. Comes with very impressive 8x10" photo of Einstein, taken apparently in the 1930's, which could be utilized for framing.

Estimate $6,000 - 8,000

164 Remington, Eliphalet. Signed bank check. Attractive bank check illustrated with blacksmith at L, signed at bottom R. Check has been cut cancelled not affecting signature, Very Fine. No photo. Estimate $100 - 150

165 Wright, Orville. (Flight Pioneer). Signed check. Absolutely magnificent example of his prized signature, on bank check made payable to "Lottie Jones" (a domestic in the Wright household ??) for $6.25. Drawn on Union Trust of Dayton, Ohio, December 23, 1930. In black fountain pen. Comes with superb sepia likeness and biographical background. Estimate $750 - 1,000

Sports

166 Brooklyn Dodgers Signed 1946 Baseball. 26 of "Dem Bums" on a team autographed ball, including Lippy Leo. This was a transition year for the Dodgers. Many of their regulars had just returned from military duty and they were on the verge of large accomplishments; in 1947 they took the National League pennant but lost in the World Series to the DiMaggio-led Yankees. Included are Peter Reiser; Leo Durocher, the manager, who signed a large signature and added the year 1946; Rex Barney, PeeWee Reese, Chuck Dressen (who later became the team's manager), Kirby Higby, Gene Hermanski, Carl Furillo (a rookie who went on to big things), Dixie Walker ("The People's Cherce"), Ralph Branca, Ed Stanky, etc. Total of 26 signatures. Some signatures are light and there is a bruised spot touching the PeeWee Reese signature and one other signature, otherwise about Fine, a very hard to get ball.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

167 Brooklyn Dodgers Signed 1950's Baseball. The great glory days of the middle fifties when nearly every year saw the Dodgers and Yankees slugging it out in October. Signatures of Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, Don Drysdale, Gil Hodges, Sandy Koufax (just starting out and working on control problems), Duke Snider, Walt Alston (the manager), Jake Pitler, Andy Pafko, etc. Six hall of farmers! Signatures mostly strong, a few slightly faded, overall fine/very fine. An extremely desirable ball. it is most unusual to get Robinson and Koufax on the same ball as Jackie's career was coming to a close when Sndy's was just beginning and they were teammates very briefly. Estimate $4,000 - 6,000

168 Cobb, Ty. Baseball Scorecard. Mint condition baseball scorecard issued by E.B. Franklin (clothier) of Grover, Colorado. Pictures TY Cobb with British Antarctic Territory in hands, reads "Ty Cobb -- King of Ball Players" Training and experience developed him. Our clothes have just naturally taken the lead", etc. Gives history of National and American League pennant winners, World Series winners, ten leading batters in each league for 1914, small photographs of 16 famous baseball players. Not dated but as records are from 1914 this can safely be dated to 1915. Measures 14" x 5 1/2" (intended to be folded). Absolutely pristine condition. Estimate $500 - 750

169 Dean Brothers. Autographs. Dizzy Dean and his brother Paul, both pitchers, combined to turn the 1930's St. Louis Cardinals into one of baseball's most dominant and most colorful teams. Known as the Gashouse Gang because of the inordinate quantity of bottled soda consumed in the clubhouse, they built a general reputation for nuttiness with Dizzy leading the way. With his twangy southern drawl, big boyish grin and carload of tales -- most of them tall -- he was a reporter's delight. He was not short on skills, either, as he remains (after 75 years) the last National League pitcher to win 30 games in a season. After receiving a freak injury in an All-Star game (batted ball to the toe) Dizzy's career was cut short and he went into broadcasting. His play-by-play was classic, with such expressions as "the runner SLUD into third," etc. He is now enshrined in the Hall of Fame. Paul, known as Daffy, did not quite reach the pitching accomplishments of his brother but, gifted with the same genetics, also had a fun loving personality. Very creative presentation with signatures of both on raised platform-style mounts, together with a photo of both as teammates also on a raised mount. Double matted against a white fabric background highlighted with Cardinal-red pin-stripes. Very early framing job, possibly 1930's, which would be expensive to do today. Overall about, 12 1/2" x 16". Accompanied by PSA/DNA certificate of authenticity. Estimate $600 - 800

170 Eleven 500-Homerun Hitters. Legal size cover with COLORANO silk cachet 1989, picturing (in color) the then-living members of baseball's 500 homerun club. ALL OF THE PLAYERS PICTURED ADDED THEIR SIGNATURES TO THIS EXTREMELY HISTORIC COVER, IN ADDITION TO PETE ROSE (not a 500 homerun hitter). Signatures are: Mike Schmidt, Ernie Banks, Harmon Killebrew, Willie McCovey, Willie Mays, Hank Aaron, Mickey Mantle (now deceased), Ted Williams (now deceased), Eddie Mathews (now deceased), Reggie Jackson and Frank Robinson (plus Pete Rose). Excellent condition. Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

171 Jeffries, James. "The Great White Hope" places his immense, bold signature on a "Certificate of Victory" for a celebrity boxing bout. A cornerstone signature for any collection of Boxing Greats, it is simply unobtainable on this type of item: partly printed "CERTIFICATE OF VICTORY" for a celebrity match between immortal songwriter Cole Porter ("Anything Goes," etc.) and his longtime buddy actor Monty Woolley ("The Man Who Came to Dinner"). Certificate is headed JEFFRIES BARN and has photo of Jeffries in boxing pose, also photo of the California Boxing Commissioner. Dated September 25, 1941, it reads (in part), "This Certificate is presented to Cole Porter ... and certifies that he defeated Monty Woolly (sic) in an Amateur Boxing Bout by T.K.O. 2nd round." GIANT SIGNATURE OF JEFFRIES IN DARK GREEN FOUNTAIN PEN. 91" x 12", in frame about 13" x 15." With PSA/DNA certificate of authenticity. OBVIOUSLY ONE OF A KIND! Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 172 Mantle, Mickey. Signed Baseball Card. Bowman 1954 Mickey Mantle card (#65 in the 1954 series) depicting a broadly smiling YOUNG Mick (he was only 23!). Signed boldly across uniform front. A rare card in itself, stupendous extra appeal with signature. Excellent bright fresh condition, encased in a thick lucite vault-type holder.
 Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

- 174 Mathewson, Christy. Rare cigarette card. Christy Mathewson, known as "Matty" and "Big Six," was a rare bird indeed: a college educated baseball player in the days when many big leaguers signed their names with a scrawly X. He was tall, handsome, charismatic and if he played in the days of Mass Media would have come very close to ruling the world. Christy Mathewson was a member of John McGraw's New York Giants in the early 1900's. Together with "Iron Man" Joe McGinnity they comprised 2/3rds of the starting rotation, as nobody had ever heard of pitch counts or fatigue or coming out of a game while your pulse was still beating. Winning 30 in a season was commonplace for Matty but he never garnered a Cy Young award as it didn't exist. Later he served in the so-called Great War (World War I), was gassed in the trenches and never recovered his health.
 This is a Sweet Caporal Cigarettes card from the famous 1909-11 series. It is the "dark cap" version of the portrait (there were two) and is slab-ed with certification and grading by PA/COLLECTORS UNIVERSE, with grade of EX5. Very fresh color without the least fading. GEM!
 Estimate $2,500 - 3,500

- 173 Mantle, Mickey. The Mick in Very Rare Autographic Form. MICKEY MANTLE SIGNED LONG-SLEEVE PULLOVER (size 42/44). Likeness of the Yankees immortal as a right-handed batter (he hit from both sides), with a menacing gaze in the pitcher's direction ready to send the next serve stratosphere-bound. Signature, in bright blue marker, is one of the largest of Mantle's you will ever see, a full 4". The rarity factor on this item is far beyond that of signed balls or photos, perhaps 1/100, and would make a splendid acquisition even for the collector well supplied with Mantle autographic items. Excellent condition.
 Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

175 Negro League early treasure trove of correspondence.

Material on baseball's oldtime "Negro League," so treasured by historians of the game, has always been very scarce. Many of the smaller barnstorming teams came and went without leaving virtually anything behind. Here is a really unbelievable lot of ELEVEN LETTERS, FROM 1920's TO 1940's, ALL WRITTEN AND/OR TO THE PROPRIETORS OF ALL-BLACK TEAMS. Mostly typewritten, they deal with arranging games between the teams, juggling schedules, arranging the take (percentages of the gate receipts) and various other matters. All are from, or to, Quinn's Detroit Stars. Letterheads are included that even the most advanced collector of Negro League items has probably not seen! A few other miscellaneous pieces (press cutting, mailing envelope etc.) are also in the lot.

Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

176 New York Yankees 1934 Team Signatures.

From the Golden Age of the New York Yankees, the sort of item that just isn't seen on the market: 6 3/4" x 5 1/2" sheet of paper with very strong black fountain pen signatures of SEVEN

HALL OF FAMERS, LOU GEHRIG, RED RUFFING, TONY LAZZERI, BILL DICKEY, HERB PENNOCK, EARLE COMBS AND LEFTY GOMEZ. Also 12 others (not Hall of Famers) including Dixie Walker (then a Yankee, later to star with the Brooklyn Dodgers as "the people's cherche"), Johnny Allen, Ben Chapman, Wilcy Moore, Lyn Lary etc. There is also a Babe Ruth signature, but this is believed to be a so-called "clubhouse" signature, not signed by Ruth himself. The others are absolutely authentic. Based upon the time period when these players were teammates, the page would date to about 1934. Exceptional and in VF condition! Comes with 8x10" team photo.

Estimate $6,000 - 8,000

177 Robinson, Jackie. Book Signed. "The Artful Dodgers".

By Tom Meany. New York: Grosset a& Dunlap, 1954. 214 pages, bound in light grey pebble-grain cloth. Frontispiece of 1952 National League Champion Dodgers and other photos. With original dust jacket featuring the cartoonist Willard Mullin's Brooklyn Bum and portraits of six Dodger players. Signed and inscribed on the front flyleaf by Jackie Robinson. "To Jim Drumm -- any most ardent fan! Jackie Robinson". One of the great multi sports athletes (an All-American college football player), Robinson became the first black player in Major League baseball in 1947. He starred on the Dodgers for ten years and became on of the foremost fan favorites. A lengthy chapter in the book is devoted to him, entitled "The Trail Blazer". Robinson's autograph in all forms is highly prized but is particularly scarce in books. This is almost certainly a one-of-a-kind item. VF condition.

Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

178 Ruth, "Babe". Original photograph that he prized and had hanging in his home in his living room. It is a photo of Ruth and Lou Gehrig seated on Babe Ruth's couch. Ruth is blowing hard on a clarinet while Gehrig recoils from the non-musical noise, grimacing and stuffing fingers in his ears. Inscribed by Mrs. Ruth: "To Allan, Sincerely Claire Ruth, December 25, 1960". Allan Schneider was a close advisor to both Claire and Babe Ruth. When this was purchased, there was a notation: "Hung over the Living Room sofa". (In original frame and mat) About 7 x 9", matted and framed to an overall size of slightly less than 10 x 14".

Estimate $5,000 - 7,500

signature is NOT touched by cancellation holes as is the case with most examples. Ruth's last year as an active player was 1935, when he finished up his career in the city it began, Boston (but with the Braves, not the Red Sox, for whom he had headlined as a slugging pitcher in the teens). He went on to coach for the Brooklyn Dodgers and took batting practice well into his 40's to draw extra fans, but never landed the managerial job to which he strongly aspired.

Estimate $5,000 - 7,500

180 Ruth, "Babe". Signature -- plus two other sports greats -- on a 1939 World's Fair Souvenir. "ACADEMY OF SPORT - NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR 1939." 3" printed card stock disc (printed on both sides). Advertises Christy Walsh's pavilion at the fair, which exhibited trophies, awarded to various athletes and gave live demonstrations of the manufacture of sporting equipment. Babe Ruth is named on front side as "MEMBER - ADVISORY SPORTS COMMITTEE" and his signature (in pencil, but nice and bold) appears on the back. ALSO SIGNED BY JAMES BRADDOCK (heavyweight boxing champion, from whom Joe Louis took the crown) and AL SCHACHT ("Clown Prince of Baseball"). Schacht had been a major league player but achieved his greatest notoriety after retirement when he developed a baseball comedy routine. Christy Walsh was Babe Ruth's business manager, ghost writer and frequent signer of proxy signatures -- but this one is absolutely genuine. ACCOMPANIED BY PSA/DNA certificate of authenticity. Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

179 Ruth, "Babe". Pays his considerable taxes in 1936. SPECTACULAR BABE RUTH SIGNED CHECK, drawn on the Chemical Bank & Trust Company, December 14, 1936, payable to "U.S. Collector of Internal Revenue" in the amount of $892.39. OVERSIZE check with name "BABE RUTH" printed vertically at left. Ruth signs very large and VERY BOLDLY "G.H. RUTH" in blue fountain pen. Showpiece item of spectacular visual appeal. The Chemical Bank was located at Broadway and 73rd Street, close "to Ruth's apartment building (in which another slugger of note, Hank Greenberg, also lived). Beautifully preserved! The

181 Ruth, "Babe". Original Photograph. Ruth with Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, each in the uniform of his respective team, posing together with British Antarctic Territory in hand. Would have been quite an outfield but they never played together! Date of this photo is uncertain, possibly around 1940. Only photo we have seen of these immortals together. 6"x 8", matted and framed to slightly less than 11"x 14" overall. Simple wood frame. Excellent condition. This came from the personal collection of Mrs. Claire Ruth.
Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

182 Ruth, "Babe". Book with Signature. Book: "The Home Run King". By "Babe" Ruth. New York: A.L. Burt Co., Copyright 1920. 240 pages plus numerous pages of publishers' ads at conclusion. Bound in lime green cloth with silhouette of the Babe following through on a mighty swing. Frontispiece illustration of the book's fictional hero, Pep Pindar. Attached to front flyleaf is a postcard signed by Babe Ruth on the reverse side. Although a pencil signature, it is far stronger and thicker than the usual pencil signature, having undoubtedly been written with a broad-lead pencil. Tremendous example of Ruth's signature, and one which may never have previously been on the market. Binding scuffed, worn and somewhat spotted. Internally fine and the card bearing Ruth's signature is XF+. Of course Babe Ruth did not sit down and pen a 240 page novel. This book was either ghost written (his usual ghost writer was Christy Walsh, but this may be too early for Walsh's involvement) or -- even more likely -- was a manuscript gathering mould on the publisher's shelves until he could tie a famous name to it. It is a work for adolescent boys, of the sort quite popular around that time. A.L. Burt was best known for doing reprints of the "Tarzan" titles. Estimate $3,000 - 4,000

183 Ruth, "Babe". Bronze Plaque (wall hanging with ring at back). Very high relief portrait in cast bronze, oval shape, approximately. 4" x 3 1/2". Gorgeous chocolate brown patina. Age of this item is undetermined. Does not bear any markings.
Estimate $750 - 1,000

- 184 Ruth, "Babe". Original Photograph. Oversize photo of Ruth in a gym, getting his waist measured. Behind him in a wall hung so-called Indian Clubs, used for exercise. Ruth is smiling and so is the man with the tape measure. He is not dressed for a gym session, as he wears suit and tie and leather dress shoes. Based on biographies and reminiscences, it is unlikely that Ruth spent much (if any) time working out in gyms. Purpose of the photo was undoubtedly to give the impression that he really was interested in working off the beer-and-hotdogs stomach (the Yankees added vertical pinstripes to their uniforms to make Ruth look slimmer). Has embossed stamp at lower right, "The Edward Weston Collection". About 10" x 13", matted to 15" x 17 1/2". Estimate $750 - 1,000

seal. The Browns' claim to fame in that era was largely the development of George Sisler, a two-time .400 hitter in the twenties and holder for 80 years of the single season hit record, 257, now broken by Ichiro Suzuki. It was considered a very colorful club but was outclassed in the standings by Ruth's Yankees and Connie Mack's Athletics. In 1954 the franchise was moved to Baltimore to become the Orioles. Stock Certificates of the St. Louis Browns from this time period are hardly ever available for collectors. Accompanied by a PMG certificate of authenticity grading this specimen about uncirculated. Estimate $600 - 800

- 186 Super Bowl 2008 Collector's Item. THIS IS BY FAR THE SINGLE MOST DESIRABLE (AND VALUABLE) collector's item from the 2008 Super Bowl. Official New York Giants Riddell helmet signed by Tom Coughlin (the coach) and 30 players, including Eli Manning, Justin Tuck, David Diehl, Ahmad Bradshaw; Kevin Boss, Michael Strahan, Brandon Jacobs, Amani Toomer, Sean O'Hara, Osi Umenyiora, Antonio Pierce etc. etc. With museum grade display case and certificate of authenticity. NOTE: Certificate reads 2007 team because the regular season (leading up to the Super Bowl, which was played in early 2008) was 2007. Excellent condition. Comes with custom designed display case of highly polished wood with glass sides and top and Steiner certificate of authenticity. These now sell for FAR more than original issue price! Estimate $2,000 - 3,000

- 185 St. Louis Browns Early Stock Certificate. "St. Louis American League Base Ball Co.", certificate for three shares at $100 per, June 10, 1932. Issued to P.D.C. Ball and signed by him as President. Globe of the world with wording "American League" at top and gold embossed

- 187 Thorpe, Jim. Signature and Inscription. Already a sports celebrity of prime magnitude from his amateur triumphs, Jim Thorpe went on to play professional baseball and football. A more than adequate baseballer, he became a great star in football. When it was learned that he had played semi professional baseball as a youth, his Olympic medals were taken away and not restored until long after his death. Many regard Thorpe as the greatest all-around athlete, a group that includes (among others) Jackie Robinson, Althea Gibson and Babe Zaharias. Titlepage from a Grantland Rice/John W. Heisman Book, "Understand Football", signed, inscribed and dated by Thorpe in very bold blue fountain pen. "For Al - a very nice fellow who wrote a great story of men in the Olympics, Jim Thorpe, Feb. 1946". Excellent condition. Would frame splendidly.

Estimate $1,000 - 1,500

- 188 Wilson, Hack. "Homerun King's" Signature. Hack Wilson, who died at 48, enjoyed years of great glory as the National League's premier fence-buster. While playing for the Chicago Cubs, Wilson established the NL record of 56 homeruns for a single season in 1930. In that same season he also drove in 190 runs, a record for both leagues which has stood for 80 years and not likely to be surpassed any time soon. Following his baseball days Wilson, a heavy consumer of alcoholic beverages, fell on hard times. Unable to find steady employment, he resorted to singing "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" at Chicago restaurants for coins that the customers would throw. He died in 1948, the same year as Babe Ruth. Superb Signature in dark blue fountain pen at the bottom of a portion of ruled page, signed by 8 other ballplayers as well. Included among the other signers is fellow Hall-of-Famer Al Lopez, a catcher and for many years a very successful manager, Dutch Leonard and Brooklyn Dodgers pitching star Van Mungo. Probably from the 1930's. Has been laid on heavier paper for preservation. From a very vintage collector's album. Not an easy signature to get!

Philatelic Literature

- 717            Heath's Counterfeit Detector. Series of four volumes of this pioneer work, which has become not only a major reference but extremely desirable collector's item for those who specialize in the 19th Century U.S. Banknotes. Produced with exacting precision, the Heath Counterfeit Detectors were not only the standard authority for their time (actually never surpassed) but marvels of the printing art. Officially licensed by the Treasury Department, they contained exact replica plates -- many in color -- of the designs utilized on U.S. currency. Comparison with any note of that era would reveal any possible discrepancy in the fine lines engraving. This lot comprises four distinct volumes in the series: 1. "Heath's infallible counterfeit detector at sight" etc. etc. Boston: Laban Heath, 1864. Pocket size, bound in pebble grain cloth with title gilt stamped on front cover. 2. The same, but an enlarged edition with 1870 copyright date. Bound in green cloth with very decorative gilt lettering. 3. The same, 12th edition, 1877. 4. The same, also 12th edition but dated 1878. Some light rubbing to the bindings and a few pages loose but absolutely complete and essentially V.F. it should be noted that volumes from this series are most difficult to obtain in a high condition grade owing to the use they received.            Estimate $1,500 - 2,000

The Extremely Rare Perf 11 Harding

- 2225 ○ 2¢ Harding, rotary, the rare perf 11 (613). Well-centered with unusually wide margins for this printing, sharp impression, bold wavy-line machine cancel, Very Fine, a truly remarkable & seldom offered rarity, Unlisted in Siegel Census, from the same source as the strip of three discovered in the last decade, 2009 APS cert. "used genuine in all respects". $45,000

One of the rarest of all 20th century issues, this one being one of the most attractive we have seen. The 2c Harding Rotary Perf 11 stamp was discovered in 1938 by Leslie Lewis of the New York firm, Stanley Gibbons Inc. Gary Griffith presents his hypothesis in United States Stamps 1922-26 that rotary-printed sheets of 400 were first reduced to panes of 100 and then fed through the 11-gauge perforating machine normally used for flat plate sheets. This method distinguishes sheet-waste stamps -- Scott 544, 596 and 613 -- from the coil-waste stamps and explains the existence of a straight-edge on Scott 613.
