ABN - superb engraved with interesting political contents

We all know that President Cleveland occasionally gets petulant and that such a frame of mind is not best for dealing with international matters. The Venezuela dispute is too insignificant for a great war, but the world rejoices when a supercilious bully is knocked from his perch, even if done by someone in a bullying way.

College professors and statisticians can very properly present the commercial side and vividly picture the immense sacrifices war demands.
It is well to have such facts frequently reiterated and widely published
