ST. PATRICK'S DAY 1978 McNamara's Band

Right now we are rehearsin' for a very swell affair,
The annual celebration, all the gentry will be there.
When General Grant to Ireland came he took me by the hand,
Says he, "I never saw the likes of McNamara's band."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY 1978 McNamara's Band

Oh! the drums go bang, and the cymbals clang,
And the horns they blaze away; McCarthy pumps the old
Bazoon while I the pipes do play, and Hennessy Tennessee
Tootles the flute, and the music is something grand.
A credit to old Ireland is McNamara's band.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY 1978 McNamara's Band

Oh! my name is Uncle Yulius and from Sweden I have come,
To play with McNamara's band and beat the big boss drum,
And when I march along the street the ladies think I'm grand,
They shout 'There's Uncle Yulius playing with an Irish band.'

Oh! I wear a bunch of shamrocks and a uniform of green, And I'm the funniest looking Swede
That you have ever seen. There's O Briens and Ryans and Sheehans and Meehans.
They come from Ireland, but by Yimminy I'm the only Swede in McNamara's band.

McNamara's Band

One day out of every year — St. Patrick's Day — we can all wear the green and become mischievous Irishmen, and sing the many charming and jolly songs the Irish have given us about their country and their people. One of the most popular of these songs — MacNamara's Band — was written by an Englishman, John J. Stamford, accompanied with music by Shamus O'Connor. The song was not a hit until an American publisher acquired the rights to the song and sold them to Bing Crosby. Crosby just finished singing with the Paul Whiteman band, and had teamed up with Bob Haggart and the Three Jesters. The song was recorded on the Decca label in December, 1945 in an album titled Shillelaghs and Shamrocks. Always a lively crooner, Crosby brought his rousing, hearty voice to this contagious group song and it became an overnight hit. One of the most popular songs of the post World War II period, MacNamara's Band sold an unprecedented two million copies.

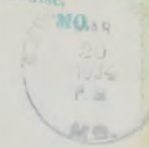

St. Patrick's Day is celebrated in honor of the patron saint of Ireland who died on March 17, 461 A.D. One of the most successful Christian missionaries in history, St. Patrick lived to see nearly the whole of Ireland accept Christianity. St. Patrick did not confine himself to preaching, but also founded schools and superintended the building of churches. Thus, it comes as no surprise that his name is still held in the highest reverence in Ireland and by Irishmen all over the world. Lakes, mountains, and churches are named after him in Ireland. He stands supreme as the father of the faith and his name evokes Ireland's rich history, culture, religion, and natural scenic beauty. For people everywhere, but particularly for Irish descendants, the love of Ireland's gently sloping countryside with its snug cottages, small farms, and green fertile fields is inevitable and eternal.

Saint Patrick's Day

St. Patrick, born March 17, about 390 A. D. in Scotland of Briton and Roman parents, is accorded full credit for the conversion of the Irish from Barbarians to Christians. He lived 106 years.
