Human Rights

"We recognize and bear and cultivate walls, but there are many kinds of prisons. Repression of creativity, identity, culture—these things can kill our spirits. The men and women struggle to escape the forces that restrict their freedom. The woman builds her child and lives towards a better future. One man is a trial of fighting, he can handle it on. He's the full lion, but he built into the blue sea, his imagination, to help him on his feet. Another has talent, but he understands the hope that encouraged him to make the attempt in the first place. Behind the hope, the prisoners close their eyes and then remind them not to forget those left behind." — Yusef

Peace
One
Day

INTERNATIONAL DAY OF PEACE 21 SEPTEMBER 2005

The International Day of Peace was proclaimed by the United Nations General Assembly to be a day of global ceasefire and non-violence. So let us take these 24 hours to remember the victims of conflict, to begin a peaceful dialogue, and to promote a global consensus on the dominant threats to peace and security in our time — and what to do about them. Twenty-four hours, a precious multitude of safety and calm, to help relief workers provide vital services, to offer mediators a building block towards a wider truce, to allow all those engaged in conflict to reconsider the wisdom of further violence. Twenty-four hours, not a long time, but enough for the world's leaders to begin to listen to their peoples and rededicate themselves to the quest of building a safer and more just world.
