X-Men Comic Characters
1995

Wolverine first encountered the malevolent Magneto shortly after joining the X-Men—and, conflict after magnetically-charged conflict, the two have been the bitterest of foes. Wolverine's adamantium metal claws and raw fury proved to be a match for Magneto, yet Wolverine recently succumbed to the master of magnetism in battle—the very adamantium being torn from his bones with a wave of Magneto's hand. Though Magneto's mind was shut down by Professor X, to ensure he would harm no one else, Wolverine knows that this arch-foe shall soon awaken... with a vengeance!

MILLENNIUM OF EXPLORATION

Charles Darwin was born in Shrewsbury, England, in 1809. As a young boy he was interested in natural history and was a keen collector of insects and plants. He was a very good student and was awarded a scholarship to study at Edinburgh University. He was a member of the Royal Society and was elected a Fellow in 1829. He was a very successful naturalist and geologist and was one of the most important scientists of his time. He was a very good writer and his books were very popular. He was a very good speaker and his lectures were very interesting. He was a very good teacher and his students were very successful. He was a very good friend and his friends were very loyal. He was a very good father and his children were very happy. He was a very good citizen and his country was very proud of him. He was a very good man and his life was very interesting.

In 1831 Darwin was invited to travel to South America on the ship HMS Beagle. The voyage lasted five years and was very successful. He collected many plants and animals and was very interested in the geology of the area. He was a very good observer and his notes were very detailed. He was a very good collector and his collection was very large. He was a very good scientist and his work was very important. He was a very good writer and his books were very popular. He was a very good speaker and his lectures were very interesting. He was a very good teacher and his students were very successful. He was a very good friend and his friends were very loyal. He was a very good father and his children were very happy. He was a very good citizen and his country was very proud of him. He was a very good man and his life was very interesting.

In 1842 Darwin returned to England and was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society. He was a very successful naturalist and geologist and was one of the most important scientists of his time. He was a very good writer and his books were very popular. He was a very good speaker and his lectures were very interesting. He was a very good teacher and his students were very successful. He was a very good friend and his friends were very loyal. He was a very good father and his children were very happy. He was a very good citizen and his country was very proud of him. He was a very good man and his life was very interesting.

He died in 1882 and was buried in Westminster Abbey. He was a very good man and his life was very interesting. He was a very good scientist and his work was very important. He was a very good writer and his books were very popular. He was a very good speaker and his lectures were very interesting. He was a very good teacher and his students were very successful.
