Future mail Transportation

1990 America Issue

1989-93 Airmails

Future Mail Transportation: A companion to the Classic Mail Transportation souvenir sheet, this colorful sheet also commemorated the convening of the 20th Universal Postal Congress. Featuring a se-tenant block of four, the sheet gave postal patrons a glimpse at several potential mail delivery methods of the future. These Space Age designs include a hypersonic airliner soaring through space, a mail delivery hovercraft riding along on a cushion of air, a shuttle involved in a mid-space mail transfer, and a land rover craft delivering mail to a space colony. Although these vehicles don't actually exist, they are based on the industry's estimation of what future mail delivery transportation could look like.

Harriet Quimby: One of the few women honored on Airmail stamps is Harriet Quimby, journalist and drama critic. She was the first American woman to receive a pilot's license, and the first woman to fly the English Channel solo.

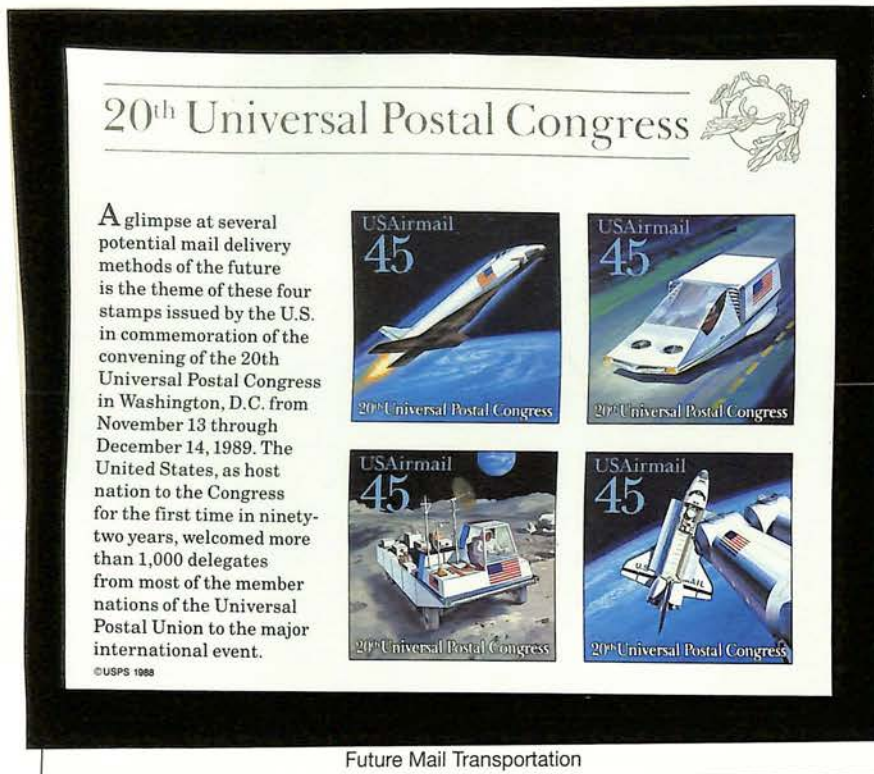

William T. Piper: Designer of the popular Piper Cub plane, he was called the Henry Ford of Aviation for developing and promoting low-cost aircraft.

Antarctic Treaty: This treaty, which went into effect on June 23, 1961, demilitarized the continent of Antarctica and preserved it for scientific research. This stamp honors the treaty's 30th anniversary.

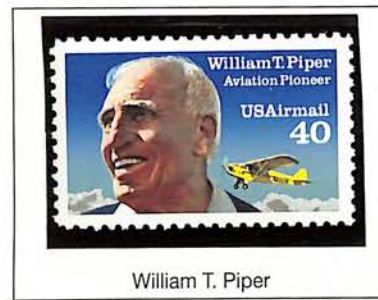

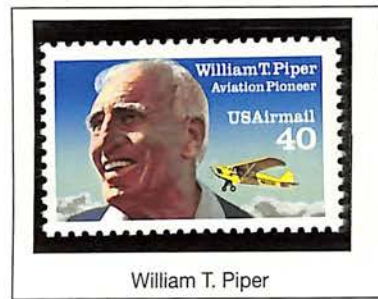

America: The 1991 America stamp shows what the Bering Strait, which linked Siberia and Alaska, may have looked like to Asians crossing it thousands of years ago. The America Series was begun in 1989 by the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain. Portugal became a member in 1991.

1999-2008 Airmails

Niagara Falls – 48¢: This stamp was issued in 1999 to pay the international postage rate. It is the first stamp in the Scenic American Landscapes Series. The stamp features a photo of the American Falls taken from the New York shoreline by nature photographer Kurt Ross. To the left of the stamp's denomination is the stylized silhouette of a jet, which indicates it was intended to satisfy an airmail or international rate.

Rio Grande – 40¢: The second installment in the Scenic American Landscapes Series honors the Rio Grande River, which marks the boundary between Texas and Mexico. The 40¢ denomination of this stamp fulfilled the 1999 international rate for a postcard mailed from the United States to Mexico.

Grand Canyon – 60¢: The third Scenic American Landscapes Series stamp shows a photographic panorama of the Grand Canyon. Initially, the 60¢ stamp was incorrectly inscribed, "Grand Canyon, Colorado." The error was caught before any stamps were released. Over 100 million stamps had to be destroyed. The corrected inscription reads, "Grand Canyon, Arizona," since the entire Grand Canyon is within that state. This 2000 issue was intended for letters up to one ounce and mailed to Canada or Mexico.

Nine Mile Prairie – 70¢: The fourth stamp in the Scenic American Landscapes Series displays the sweeping tall grasses of Nine Mile Prairie. Most of this 230-acre prairie north of Lincoln, Nebraska, has never been plowed. Owned by the University of Nebraska Foundation, it has been preserved for nature study, teaching, and research. The 70¢ stamp was issued in 2001 to pay the international postcard rate to countries other than Mexico and Canada.

Mount McKinley – 80¢: Named for President William McKinley, Mount McKinley graces the fifth stamp in the Scenic American Landscape Series. The mountain is located in Alaska's Denali National Park and Preserve. At 20,320 feet, it is the highest mountain in North America. The 80¢ stamp was issued in 2001 for letters weighing up to and including one ounce and mailed to all countries other than Canada and Mexico.

Acadia National Park – 60¢: The sixth Scenic American Landscapes Series stamp features Acadia National Park, which includes 45,000 acres of mountains, lakes, forests, and rocky shoreline in Maine. Acadia was the first national park created east of the Mississippi River. This 60¢ stamp, issued in 2001, replaced the 60¢ Grand Canyon stamp for letters weighing up to and including one ounce and being mailed to Canada or Mexico.

Bryce Canyon – 63¢: This stamp was issued to pay the 63¢ letter rate to Mexico and Canada in 2006. Bryce Canyon is located in southwestern Utah. It was named after the Mormon pioneer Ebenezer Bryce and established as a small National Park in 1924. Its unique geology consists of a series of horseshoe-shaped amphitheaters and spires formed in colorful limestone. This is the seventh issue of the Scenic American Landscapes Series.

Great Smoky Mountains – 75¢: The eighth Scenic American Landscapes Series stamp features the Great Smoky Mountains that lie in the Southern Appalachian Mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee. Among the oldest mountains in the world, they support an amazing diversity of life. The Great Smoky Mountains were also pictured in the 1934-35 National Park Series stamps. Seventy-five cents paid the card rate for countries other than Mexico and Canada in 2006.

Yosemite National Park – 84¢: Yosemite, located in California, is shown on the ninth installment of the Scenic American Landscapes Series. This stamp satisfied the international letter rate in 2006. Yosemite is best known for its spectacular waterfalls, giant sequoia groves, and granite cliffs. Yosemite's granite formation "El Capitan" was featured in the 1934-35 National Park Series stamps.

Okefenokee Swamp – 69¢: One of the "Seven Natural Wonders of Georgia," the Okefenokee Swamp is the biggest swamp of its kind in North America. The 438,000-acre peat-filled wetland is home to a number of wading birds including herons, egrets, ibises, cranes, and bitterns. Wildlife such as alligators and black bears also inhabit the swamp.

Hagåtña Bay – 90¢: Hagåtña Bay is the capital of Guam, a U.S. territory located on the island's western shore. The town is home to the island's first church, Dulce Nombre de Maria, built by Guam's first Spanish missionary, Padre San Vitores, in 1668. Hagåtña boasts a number of tall office buildings, with the center of town made up of shops and small restaurants. Each year the annual Liberation Day Parade is celebrated on July 21st. It is one of the largest holidays in Guam and takes place on Hagåtña's Marine Drive.

13-Mile Woods – 72¢: 13-Mile Woods is a community forest preserve located in northern New Hampshire. Remote and unspoiled, the woods have been conserved by the residents of Errol, New Hampshire, and the nonprofit Trust for Public Lands. The 13-Mile Woods consist of 5,300 acres of mature hardwood and softwood trees, as well as nine miles of frontage along the Androscoggin River. A sunrise in the 13-Mile Woods was captured by Jerry and Marcy Monkman. The image appears on the 2008 U.S. Postal Service 72¢ international rate stamp, twelfth in the Scenic American Landscapes Series.
