During the last thirty months the "Rockford Insurance Company" has issued policies on the property of more than twenty thousand Illinois farmers. These men patronize the Company because it will not touch mercantile or manufacturing property. It member the "Rockford" settles liberally, pays promptly, and avoids cities. It sends no money out of Illinois, and has not a dollar at risk in Chicago.

Washington Irving, when writing history, paid particular attention to stylisn of dress, because costume reflects character. Clothes help to make the history of every man.

A man is sensitive to his own appearance, others judge him by it and thus all his actions and dealings through life are influenced by the clothes he wears.

Frequent changes of costume have a tonic effect, and the advancing season presents your opportunity to buy our two-piece suits, negligees, and all summer goods at greatly reduced prices.
