6 May 1840 Penny Black introduced. Imperforate, small crown watermark

SG. 2, A1 (2). AS15. "MH". 1d black. Plate 2. A fine used example cancelled by a red maltese cross with the "Ray flaws 10 / 7 NW square and Horizontal line above NW square" varieties.

Postmarks. The so-called "Maltese Cross" design was the first employed for obliterating British postage stamps and was in use from 1840 to 1844. Being hand-cut, the obliterating stamps varied greatly in detail and some distinctive types can be allotted to particular towns or offices. Local types, such as those used at Manchester, Norwich, Leeds, etc., are keenly sought. A red ink was first employed, but was superseded by black, after some earlier experiments, in February 1841. Maltese Cross obliterations in other colours are rare.

Possibly from plate 6

Scottish Experimental Duplex Cancellations – Glasgow

Glasgow commenced its experimental duplex marks with a basic type followed by two very similar (to each other) Types; the latter Type being the so called Madelaine Smith postmarks.

Duplex postmarks combined a date stamp and an obliterator.

The reason for this is that in July 1857 a notorious trial took place in Glasgow in which the defendant, 22 years old Madelaine Smith, was charged with poisoning her lover, Emile Langelier. In the event, the verdict was 'not proven' which in Scotland does not mean 'not guilty' but leaves a shadow of doubt over the defendant's character.

She had written a number of letters to Langelier, and at the trial, the postmark on one of these letters was the key to the Crown Case.

However, the postmark was so blurred that it was impossible to tell with certainty whether the letter had been posted on the 25th of February or March. The Judge in his summing up made pointed remarks as to the desirability of legible postmarks. The postmark had in fact been withdrawn some weeks before the trial.

Madelaine ended her days (after two marriages) in 1928 in New York where she was known as Leena Sheehy at the age of 93.

1870 First Issued Three Halfpence Stamp.

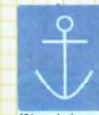

This stamp was first prepared for use in 1860 in anticipation of a change in postal rates. This did not happen and the 10,000 sheets that had been printed were mostly destroyed in 1867. A few examples are known to exist.

The stamp was eventually issued on 1st October 1870; it has a large crown watermark Type II and is perforated 14. Three plates were made – Plate 1 did not have the plate number in the design of the stamps; Plate 2 was defective and was not used; Plate 3 shows the number in the side border.

DEPARTMENTAL OFFICIAL ISSUES (1902-04)

INLAND REVENUE Before 1902 inland Revenue had two head offices, London and Edinburgh both of which had free franking privilege. The Manchester provincial office asked for similar privileges which were refused. The solution was to introduce I.R. Official stamps which effectively extended 'head office' privileges to every IR and tax collector in the land.

GOVERNMENT PARCELS The Post Office created these overprints to encourage all Departments to send parcels by parcel post and not letter post which to many of them was free. In consequence, these stamps were also provided free.

OFFICE OF WORKS ½d and 1d stamps were overprinted in February 1902 and issued to Head and Branch Offices in London and Branch Offices in Birmingham, Bristol, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Leeds, Liverpool and Manchester.

ARMY issued to District and Station Postmasters and Agents.

BOARD OF EDUCATION Available from February 1902.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD ½d and 1d overprinted in 1902 and were for use of Heads of Royal Households in the various Royal Palaces.

ADMIRALTY For use in various Admiralty Departments throughout the country from 1903.

BOARD OF TRADE This Department was the first to use official stamps. Instead of overprinting, current stamps they were perforated with a "Crown" over the letters "BT". Insufficient records exist for complete listings.

STATIONERY OFFICE Also perforated stamps with a "Crown" over the letters "SO".

"CA" OVERPRINTS It was assumed that the letters referred to the Crown Agents but this was denied and was eventually established that the overprints were made at Australia House and refer to "Commonwealth of Australia".

The examples shown are in no particular order.
