Dear Mrs. Thompson,

I am sorry I can not send you something more valuable than my autograph; if wishes were treasures, be sure your messenger should be laden down with an Oriental casket of jewels.

With thanks for your kind remembrances, believe me

Very truly Yrs.,

Dear Sir/ I duly recd your note of the 9th ult sent to me to the Deputy Clerk - and would have answered it sooner had I not waited to enquire of Mr. Thorne whether the "Mission Type" of the "Lives" had been seen at the office of the (publishing firm) - for I had never heard or seen anything of it before reading your note - He assures me that he has never seen or heard of it at 12 Paternoster Row & I fear therefore it must have in some way been carried - I am charitably as well as personally taking care, if this should call known out to be his own - or I should be much interested in looking at the papers which you kindly intended to place at our disposal -

You will perhaps let me know when where & how it was posted & addressed & also will perhaps set some copying about it on foot yourself.

Of course if at any time I should see the M. S. & not find it quite available for 'reproduction' I will return it to you - as you request

Yours truly

My dear Mr. Carleton - We expect to be at the Hotel Somerset New York by the time you mention. If we are it will give me pleasure to come and read for the benefit of indigent authors - As I expect to be one myself sometime the cause appeals to me - With warm regards

Yours cordially
