History of Mail Transport

THE BOTTLE POST
The Ascension 'bottle post' became an established practice in the 17th century. The procedure was recorded in 1673 by a visiting missionary, Friar Domingo Navarrete, and was still in use when Louis de Bougainville, captain of La Boudeuse, called in 1769.

CHANCE CALLING SHIPS
Until 1857 communication with Ascension was through chance calling ships such as the 19th century English 36-gun frigate shown. The scene is at Clarence Bay (then called Sandy Bay) with Fort Cockburn in the background.

REGULAR MAIL SERVICE
A regular mail service started in 1857 when the Union Steam Ship Co Ltd contracted to collect UK destined mail. In 1900 the Company amalgamated with the Castle Mail Packets Co Ltd to form the Union-Castle Mail Steamship Co Ltd, whose ship Carth Castle is shown beyond the old Canteen store where the mail bell until recently hung.

MAIL SERVICES TODAY
