St Paul by Greco

El Greco Creation Painter, born 1548 died 1614
His early life was spent in Italy, where he was a pupil of Titian in Venice. Painting of his Italian period was Christ driving the money changers from the Temple. In Spain he painted the Assumption, which is now in the Chicago Art Museum. Other of his paintings are; Christ Despoiled of his Garments, Burial of Count Orgas, Annunciation of Christ, Pentacost, and many others.
His masterpiece recognized as Burial of Count Orgas.

Many of his paintings are now in the Frick Collection and the Metropolitan Museum, in America.

Greco was also an Architect and Sculptor of note.
He was, undoubtedly, Spain's greatest painter.
