

The image shows a decorative title page from a book. The central focus is the title "Rose of Washington" written in a large, ornate, red Gothic-style font. The letters are intertwined with intricate black-and-white floral and vine patterns that form a wide horizontal border across the middle of the page. Above the main title, there are smaller inscriptions in the corners: "A. FRANK PARIS." in the top left and "WILLIAMS & MORGATE LONDON." in the top right. Below the main title, at the bottom center, it says "NEW YORK & HAZARD". In the bottom left corner, there is another small inscription: "J. STEINBERG ROM.". In the bottom right corner, it reads "E. BIRCH MALDENBURG." followed by some illegible handwritten notes. The paper appears aged and slightly discolored, with some faint stains visible at the bottom.
