2015-2016 Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp

The habitats protected with Federal Duck Stamp dollars benefit hundreds of species that need wetlands to feed, breed and rest. In some of the same salt marshes and shallow waters where you'll find ruddy ducks, you may also glimpse the Ridgway's rail, a grayish-brown, chicken-sized bird with a long, curving bill and a conspicuous whitish rump. Once abundant in California's wetlands, the Ridgway's rail fell to near extinction as wetlands were altered or developed. Your Duck Stamp purchase directly helps to protect habitat that is key to the survival of the Ridgway's rail and other rare species.

Certificate of Appreciation

The U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service Thanks You for Your Contribution to the Future of America's Wildlife

Your purchase of Federal Duck Stamps and Federal Junior Duck Stamps supports on-the-ground habitat conservation efforts and conservation education programs, helping to insure the future of America's wildlife. Approximately 98 cents of every Federal Duck Stamp dollar is used to purchase wetlands and associated wildlife habitat for the National Wildlife Refuge System. Since its inception in 1934, the Federal Duck Stamp Program has generated more than $700 million to acquire and permanently protect more than 5.2 million acres of habitat at hundreds of refuges across the nation. Junior Duck Stamp sales generate funds for environmental education programs and awards for America's youth. In 2007, nearly 34,000 students from kindergarten through high school participated in the Junior Duck Stamp contest.

Certificate of Appreciation

Thank You for Putting Your Stamp on Conservation!

For more than 75 years, waterfowl hunters and stamp collectors have been the mainstay of the Federal Duck Stamp program, providing revenue used to conserve some of the most important wetlands and grassland habitats within the National Wildlife Refuge System. But these preserved habitats also benefit many other species—plants, fish, amphibians, and even butterflies—as well as wetland and grassland birds—a fact recognized by America's birders.

Sales of Junior Duck Stamps support conservation education programs that help connect young people with their natural world through the arts.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service thanks you for joining waterfowl hunters, stamp collectors, educators and birders as members of our conservation community by purchasing Migratory Bird Hunting and Junior Duck Stamps!
