THE RUSSIAN POST IN THE HOLYLAND

The Russian Empire had rights to operate a postal service in the Ottoman Empire granted in 1720 by treaty and courier service was begun in 1721. A Russian post office was opened in Constantinople in 1748 but all postal service was interrupted from 1853 to 1856 by the Crimean War. When reopened in 1856 postal service was limited to the consular offices of Constantinople, Jaffa and Jerusalem.

In 1856 the "Russian Company for Steam Shipping and Trade", known as ROPIT for the Russian initials for its name, reliably undertook the forwarding of mail entrusted to its ships. This service was recognized with an agreement with the Russian Imperial Government to carry the mail from 1862 to 1864. The agreement was made permanent in 1867 when the Russian post offices were all turned over to ROPIT administration. ROPIT agencies and probably their ships were supplied with Russian stamps and at the end of December of 1862 with cancellation devices.

The Russian post office in Jaffa was opened in 1856 and in 1858 mail service was fully assumed by the ROPIT agency office which then handled large volumes of mail up until the turn of the century.

The Russian post office in Jerusalem was established in August or September, 1901. Prior to 1892 Russian mail addressed to Jerusalem, where there was a sizeable neighborhood population and an active clergy, often contained donated funds from Russia. Such mail was sent registered from Russia, and an elaborate system for forwarding this mail to Jerusalem was developed. By 1892 this was formalized when the Russian Consulate refused to handle this mail. The ROPIT agency in Jaffa allowed a hired individual to deliver the regular mail in Jerusalem. The agency also sent to Jerusalem a list of registered letters which had arrived by ship and were in the agency's possession. Signed receipts with signatures confirmed by Chief Rabbi of Jerusalem Samuel Salant were returned by courier to Jaffa and the registered mail forwarded by a return courier for distribution. Many letters were distributed by the office of Rabbi Salant who again testified to the accuracy of the addresses and identified the individuals if necessary.

Ordinary Russian stamps were in use in the Ottoman Empire up to 1865 and were used sporadically until 1914 when all the foreign post offices were closed by the Turks. The ROPIT issues were used from 1865 to 1868 and the Russian levant issues were used from 1868 thru September, 1914. At least eight types of Russian Jerusalem cancellations are known.

Russian Jerusalem 5 piastre stamps. The overprint on the left is missing the "J" while the normal variety on the right has it printed as an "I".

Fascinating resolution the Central Conference of American Rabbis indicating their opposition to phrase in Balfour Declaration "Palestine is to be a national homeland for the Jewish People." Obviously anti-Zionist in nature. RARE!!

RESOLUTION

Adopted by the

Central Conference of American Rabbis

AT CHICAGO ILL., JULY 4th, 1918

Anent the BALFOUR DECLARATION

The Central Conference of American Rabbis notes with grateful appreciation the declaration of the British Government by Mr. Balfour as an evidence of good-will toward the Jews. We naturally favor the facilitation of immigration to Palestine of Jews who, either because of economic necessity or political or religious persecution desire to settle there. We hold that Jews in Palestine as well as anywhere else in the world are entitled to equality in political, civil and religious rights but we do not subscribe to the phrase in the declaration which says, "Palestine is to be a national home-land for the Jewish people." This statement assumes that the Jews altho identified with the life of many nations for centuries are in fact a people without a country. We hold that Jewish people are and of right ought to be at home in all lands. Israel, like every other religious communion, has the right to live and assert its message in any part of the world. We are opposed to the idea that Palestine should be considered the home-land of the Jews. Jews in America are part of the American nation. The ideal of the Jew is not the establishment of a Jewish state—not the re-assertion of Jewish nationality which has long been outgrown. We believe that our survival as a people is dependent upon the assertion and the maintenance of our historic religious role and not upon the acceptance of Palestine as a home-land of the Jewish people. The mission of the Jew is to witness to God all over the world.
