Richmond cancels

Printed in Columbia, S.C.

Paid 7-5c blue Richmond Prints on cover. Tied by black Petersburg Feb. 1865 postmark. Last few days of war. Lee surrendered in April. Address is faded but it is to Oakville, Appomattox County, Va. This is last use of this stamp. It also is just before Lee abandoned Petersburg and Richmond. Probably delivered to Appomattox County just before Lee surrendered at Appomattox. Endorsement on the envelope by the receiver in manuscript reads "Answered Feb. 5th, 1865." Not many Confederate letters went through the mails after this. In fact most mail lines had been cut and Sherman was coming up through North Carolina at this time.

Raynor Hubbell

WE are indebted to a number of our readers and friends of Raynor Hubbell for informing us of his death on Wednesday, December 13, 1961, at the age of 88.

Mr. Hubbell was one of the oldest and best known stamp dealers in the United States. He had a stamp business as a young man, but later became sales manager for Pomona Products, retiring twelve years ago. He had for many years specialized in Confederate States stamps, covers, money, and related material. After his retirement he turned his hobby of collecting Confederate philately into a business. He recently said that he had more Confederate stamps than any other dealer, which was quite probably an understatement, if anything.

His interest in Confederate stamps led him to pursue other lines of Confederate history, and he owned a large collection of Civil War documents and diaries. He was also the author of Confederate Stamps, and Letters and History, a book which met with great success. Mr. Hubbell was a past president of the Confederate Stamp Alliance. Despite his advanced age, Raynor Hubbell was alert and active right up to the time of the brief illness which preceded his death in a Griffin, Georgia hospital. His extensive business grew steadily and continued to expand along new lines. Van Dyk Mac Bride writes, "Genial and most affable, he counted a host of friends who will sorely miss him." This is most certainly a fact.

Mr. Hubbell is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edward Homiller, of Griffin. Information in this item was supplied by Robert Moorefield, Van Dyk Mac Bride, Horace D. Westbrook, Harry Weiss, S. Markun and John B. Thomas, Jr.
