The Last 20 Years Of Buffalo Nickels

American Historic Society

Certificate of Authenticity

LAST TWENTY YEARS OF BUFFALO NICKELS

This Certificate of Authenticity attests to the fact that the coins in this collection are genuine United States Mint coinage.

The noted American artist, James Earle Fraser, designed a realistic Indian head for the nickel using three different living Native Americans as models. The buffalo on the back was actually a portrait of a bison from the New York Zoo. What ever the source of the engravings, the Buffalo Nickel (as it came to be known) immediately captured the imagination of the American public.

This set contains one nickel from 1919 through 1938, one for each year of issue (none minted in 1922, '32, or '38). Your entire collection is presented in an embossed portfolio. We know you will cherish this collection and display it with pride.
